Councilmen Vote to Follow Army Engineers' Recommendations to Combat Erosion on Beachfront

Erosion Committee Studying Plans to Get Work Underway

The Virginia Beach Town Council, in special session Wednesday night, voted to follow the recommendations of the special erosion committee to make an attack on the serious erosion problem that confronts Virginia Beach.

Town Manager Philip Ansell and Town Attorney Roy Smith were instructed to secure the necessary information and prepare ordinances to carry out the plan, and to proceed as quickly as possible to set the machinery in motion.

The plan which the committee, made up of members of the council along with the erosion committee of the Hotel and Cottage Association and a special group of business men, placed before the town council was briefly as follows:

To follow the Army Engineers report in its entirety, putting it to effect as a first step the artificial replenishment of sand at a cost of from $600,000 to $700,000; the setting up of a special Walkway and Beach Erosion Commission in the General Assembly (which would result in making a) to handle the amortization of the necessary bonds with funds supplied by special taxes in the town; and a broadening of the tax structure to bring in the necessary revenue.

These suggested would be built on the structure inaugurated last summer with the special luxury taxes, and would include a three per cent tax on hotel rooms and meals (bringing in an estimated $125,000); a two per cent tax on restaurant meals ($40,000); a rise in the cigarette tax from two cents to three cents per package ($50,000); and a broadening of the five per cent amusement tax to cover as many sources as is legally possible.

Councilman H. E. Halsted, who made the proposal, said that sufficient funds should remain after amortization costs to finance the same type advertising program through the Chamber of Commerce as was carried out last year at a cost of $26,000, and possibly the inclusion of a modern and expanded garbage collection.

Town Attorney Smith said that he and members of the council have an appointment with attorneys for a bonding company today (Friday), in which many of the details of the plan could be worked out.

Councilman Halsted declared that the plan was a voluntary offer by the hotel and restaurant people. Comment at the meeting indicated that there will be some opposition to the proposed tax revisions, possibly directed at groceries selling prepared foods.

Other Council Action
The firm of Myron A. Sturgeon was authorized to continue borings at the south end of the beach to locate sand suitable for pumping. The firm has already made preliminary borings for the erosion committee studying the problem, and have found several strata of sand.
The council received a reply from Rear Admiral R. O. Davis, Commandant of the Navy Naval Station, to its resolution protesting Navy acquisition of the area between the Riffe Range (Camp Pendleton) and Virginia Avenue at Croatan Beach. Admiral Davis declared the action was necessary as an amphibious warfare training area, and was deemed essential to provide a safety area.
J. C. Kessler was named to replace the late G. T. Forrester on the Beachfront Control Commission. Other members of the commission are Peyton Ray and Walter Whitman.

Town Seeks State Erosion Control Commission

Councilman Simpson Makes Proposal at Called Council Session

Virginia Beach will seek to have set up through legislative action a State Erosion Control Commission which would assist all localities in the State in meeting and financing erosion problems.

The proposal was made in a special town council meeting called Wednesday evening to study means of financing erosion control measures at Virginia Beach.

Councilman R. L. Simpson, in making the proposal, said that the State should recognize that the problem is not only a local one, but also a serious State problem, and that the State should share the burden that is now borne by local business.

Councilman Simpson said: "The State has a responsibility to pay a proportion of the costs of combating erosion. It means much to the State and they should assume their share."
He, as well as Town Manager Ansell, said that every other state on the Eastern Seaboard has such a plan of state assistance, with the exception of Florida.

Town Attorney Roy Smith was instructed to work with Representative Harry B. Davis, Princess Anne delegate to the General Assembly, to plan for the introduction of legislation that would lead to the creation of such a State Commission.

Farm Scrap Metal Needed in Defense Effort, Says PMA

Supply of New Farm Equipment May Depend on Returns

There's money lying around Princess Anne County—money in the form of scrap metal.

It may pay farmers to round up some of this scrap, according to R. W. Lane, chairman of the County Agricultural Mobilization Committee. The financial returns are not large, he says, but prices now being paid are higher than during World War II, and it's better to get some cash return than to let machinery rust away.

Collecting scrap iron and steel these days is not only the thing to do—it's patriotic to "Join the Scrap Harvest." The scrap drive is spearheaded by the County Agricultural Mobilization Committee and extends from October 15 to November 15. Its purpose is to help assure an adequate flow of iron and steel scrap to the steel industry, especially for the manufacture of ships, planes, guns and various items of farm machinery.

Farmers can sell their scrap through the usual channels—their local scrap or junk dealers. Prices paid are in accordance with the type of scrap metal offered. All kinds of scrap is needed—old farm equipment, water tanks and tank tops, worn out storage batteries, power points and shaws.

The secretary of agriculture is expecting farmers to supply a substantial portion of the tonnage of scrap needed to maintain the production of essential items at the required level. Mr. Lane said that the shipment of scrap for the manufacture of farm machinery and equipment may be determined somewhat by the extent to which farmers contribute their bell at 2 p.m. in the school library in this campaign.

Lions Club to Sell Brooms to Benefit Sight Program

Teams to Canvass Beach on Monday Night, November 12

Watch for the Lion that is coming to your home Monday night, November 12. But don't be alarmed—these Lions are comparatively harmless individuals. All they want to do is to sell you a broom.

The broom sale is in furtherance of the Lions Club's work in sight conservation and blind aid. "Buy a broom to buy a pair of eyes" is the slogan adopted by the Virginia Beach Lions Club for the sale. All of the proceeds going to the club's sight fund, according to John A. Tucker, chairman of the sale committee.

The sale, the first to be undertaken by the local club, will get underway at approximately 7 p.m. Monday evening, and a door-to-door canvass will be made of Virginia Beach and its surrounding areas.

The brooms, which Mr. Tucker described "as the best grade of No. 4 brooms" are made by inmates of the State Institutions run by the Virginia Commission for the Blind. Each broom will bear a small replica of the Lions insignia.

The 58 members of the local club will be divided into five-man teams for the one-night sale. Each team will have a district of the town or surrounding area, and efforts will be made to call on each customer.

Any person who will not be at home during the hours of the sale and wishing to order a broom in advance of the sale date for delivery at a later date may do so by contacting Mr. Tucker at 1993-J, or William M. Snider at 2046 or 971-W.

The Lions, during 1960, provided for eye examinations for 21 persons and furnished corrective glasses. In addition, white canes were presented to all persons receiving blind aid payments from the Princess Anne County Welfare Department.

Through the cooperation of one of the club members, who also serves as chairman of the Sight Conservation and Blind Committee, the examinations were made and glasses fitted at cost.

Those planning to attend are asked to bring their own cards.

Dr. Malcolm Stern of Ochof Station Temple, Norfolk, will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Wilmouth T. Cooke School Parent-Teacher Association on Monday, November 5, at 3 p.m. Dr. Stern will speak on Spiritual Foundations.

Also on the program will be reports of the recent State Parent-Teacher convention at the Cavalier.

Famous Princess Anne Turkeys to Begin Market Trip

State Turkey Crop Up 56 Per Cent; One For Each Family

Princess Anne County will soon have its name again spread far and wide, but this time as people in the north, east, south and west call for a famous Princess Anne turkey for their Thanksgiving dinner.

Virginia's Thanksgiving and Christmas turkey crop is moving to market, and it looks like there will be a Virginia bird for every family and pocketbook, the State Department of Agriculture reports.

Following a swing in consumer demand, the trend is still to wards apartment-size, ready-to-cook birds, according to Paul R. Abbey, of the Division of Markets.

Two-thirds of the crop this year are the small Bellville Whites, in which Virginia leads the nation, Mr. Abbey said. Still talking turkey, he added: With the big Bronze birds, the Virginia crop should meet any demand from 4 pounds to 24 pounds.

Virginia's modern processing plants will enable still more local birds to be rendered for the housewife in the area of production. This will mean fresher birds for the consumer.

Still booming, the state's turkey industry will produce 56 per cent more birds this year than last year, which was 30 per cent over the year before.

This year, growers indicate they will market about 30 per cent of their crop in October, but at the same time marketing a spreading out over the year.

With the prices of fed meats where they are, consumers are demanding turkeys 14 to 17 weeks old the year around.

To meet this demand, Bellville Whites are being produced all year, going to market at four to eight pounds as young fryers or at heavier weights 6 or 7 months old for the holiday trade.

Bryant Urges Greater Effort in Defense Bond Campaign

Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach are lagging behind in the First Defense Bond Campaign, according to word received here. The campaign, which ends November 12, has set an objective of $75,000 for the county and town, and to date only $45,000 sales has been reported.

Clairborne Bryant, chairman for the county, said that if the county does not meet its goal in this drive, it will be the first time that Princess Anne County has fallen down. In previous bond campaigns the county has always exceeded its quota, he said.

Mr. Bryant urged renewed effort on the part of Princess Anne and Beach residents to meet the full $75,000 goal.

Christmas Savings Checks to Go Out Within Two Weeks

That happy day is just around the corner! Those Christmas savings checks are to be mailed out from local banks to thrifty savers sometime during the next two weeks.

Both the Bank of Commerce and the Bank of Virginia Beach report substantial sums will go out in checks to Princess Anne County residents.

While a breakdown was not immediately available from the Virginia Beach Branch, the savings for the entire bank (this branch and the Norfolk branches) is $1,068,000, according to a release from Christmas Club, a Corporation, of New York City.

The Bank of Virginia Beach will mail out checks totaling some $33,000, according to officials. In the nation, Christmas Club's president, Edward F. Dorset, says, $952,000,000 has been accumulated in Christmas savings accounts in 6,200 financial institutions. This is an average per member distribution of about $87.50.

Nowadays, it is no wonder that immediately after the checks go out National Prosperity Week begins.

Campaign Extended Until November 9 in Effort to Reach Goal

Officials of the Princess Anne-Virginia Beach Community Chest are genuinely worried over the results of the current drive for funds which is lagging far behind expectations and as a result the campaign to raise $17,000 to support the agencies has been extended another week to November 9.

"Chief reason for the poor results thus far is traceable to laxity among the solicitors and the absence of a concerted effort on the part of workers as a whole," Henry Barclay, general chairman, stated. "We must redouble our efforts during the next seven days."

It was pointed out by officials that it is not necessary for a worker to call on anyone desiring to contribute. Contributions may be made directly to the Community Chest by mailing checks or money orders to the chest office in the Bank of Virginia Beach.

No official progress reports have been received by the chest office, but from scattered reports all divisions are running behind last year's effort.

W. C. Everett, chairman of the Virginia Beach division, has called a meeting of his group to plan for the final week of the drive in the hope of reaching their $7,500 quota before next Friday.

Agencies dependent on the current drive include the American Cancer Society, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Florence Crittenton Home, King's Daughters, Youth's Activities, Virginia Federation of Community Chests and Councils, and the United Defense Fund.

In making checks to the community fund, make checks payable to the Princess Anne-Virginia Beach Community Chest, and mail to R. W. Smith, Treasurer, care of the Bank of Virginia Beach.

Bookies, Numbers Writers Shut Down Operations Here

It looks like Uncle Sam has put a quietus, at least temporarily, on Princess Anne County's bookies and policy writers.

Reports this week are that bookies and numbers writers have closed down because of the new federal laws which went into effect on November 1, some of them closing shop as much as a week ago as the law took effect.

The new law requires a 10 per cent "fix" on bets to both bookies and the numbers boys, and a full accounting system, so that the Federal man can keep an eye on not only the gross income of the numbers but also on the wagers.

Book makers declare that the publicity alone is not good business, and that many of their bettors do not relish the thought of having their names, addresses, and bets a matter of public record.

While the doors of a 17th Street book making establishment remain unobtrusively closed, numbers players are not finding takers for their wagers, according to reports.

Junior Woman's Club To Hold Business Session November 6

The next regular meeting of the Junior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County will be held on Tuesday, November 6, at "The Haven." It will be a business session.

Mrs. B. Lynn Kennett, president of the club, accompanied Mrs. D. Murray Mahon, chairman of the President's Council of the Sixth District of the Federation of Junior Women's Clubs, to the meeting at the Cavalier Hotel. Mrs. Mahon is executive committee chairman of the district.

State Highway Department Gets Set For Winter Weather; State-wide Radio Hook-up New Facility for Department

The State Highway Department today began for a third year, its annual winter weather preparations. The department is now preparing for the worst winter on record, but hopes of equipment and facilities ever operated to keep the roads open. For the first time, there will be a state-wide radio hook-up of all district and residency offices, equipment shops and engineers' cars for the quick movement of men, equipment or materials to a stricken area.

Small transmitting and receiving sets have been installed in all residency offices except Chatham and Newport News, and these should be complete within 30 days, according to Deismater Davis, highway equipment engineer in charge of the work. The Newport News installation has been held up by a lack of copper antenna cable, and the Chatham office by a pending movement of the residency office.

To meet disasters, such as flash floods, the road agency has acquired three large dormitory and kitchen trailers to accommodate men who must be rushed to isolated areas where there are no nearby living or eating accommodations.

Equipment includes some 1,500 straight blade snow plows, a dozen rotary snow blowers, two large drift busters, hundreds of trucks and tractors, and six new automatic abrasive spreaders. Around 18,000 tons of chemicals and more than 100,000 tons of abrasives are on hand for the fight—if it comes—engineers said.

Preparations have included trials runs of all equipment completely manned and mounted for actual snow fighting, the erection of some 200 miles of snow fence, and stock piling materials on roadsides and at equipment lots. The trial runs are made as equipment is released from summer work.

Other preparations include contacting city and two authorities for ice and snow removal on State highway routes through the municipalities, making arrangements in small communities for help in opening roads, contacting superintendents of schools, and State, city and county police; inventorying heavy equipment available from contractors for emergency work, and arranging for the employment of school bus drivers or other qualified operators when extra help is needed.

With all these preparations, however, the road agency cautioned that heavy snows with high winds, or thick ice on pavements, will spell trouble, and at such times any necessary driving should be done with chains. Highway forces work around the clock during winter storms, but it is impossible to remove instantly all snow or ice on the sprawling road network, they point out.

League of Women Voters Meets Second Tuesday of Month

The provisional League of Women Voters of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County made plans to confer with town and county officials in an effort better to acquaint members with their local government at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. James S. Barron, Jr., Wednesday night.

An article by the editors of the Ladies Home Journal in the October issue was read by Mrs. Rita McMenamin. Parts of the Town Code were also read and discussed.

It was decided that the membership would meet once each month with the exception of July and August, each meeting to be held on the second Tuesday of the month at 8 p.m. The next meeting will be on November 13, when officers of the League of Women Voters of the United States and the State League will be invited, as well as the general public.

John D. Leitch, Jr., Norfolk attorney, was named legal advisor for the league.

A group was named to determine the projects to be studied by the organization as follows: Mrs. Walter B. Woodson, Jr., Mrs. James S. Barron, Jr., Miss Candy Greene, Miss Elizabeth Bain, Miss Blair Lee Stewart, and Mrs. M. W. Hillman. Miss Greene will serve as chairman of the study group. Mrs. John D. Bryan was asked to make arrangements for a permanent meeting place.

Members were asked to make nominations for officers to the nominating committee. These officers, with eight directors, four appointed and four to be nominated from the floor after enlargement of the membership, to constitute the board of directors. It was reiterated that directors could not actively engage in support of any one group of candidates nor one party and could not accept office for personal gain.

THE COUNTY'S POLICE

Law enforcement in Princess Anne County, as well as in Virginia Beach, particularly enforcement of laws having to do with sale of whiskey by the drink and gambling in the so-called night clubs, has frequently been open to widespread criticism.

During the recent campaign leading up to the election in August and, in a lesser extent, the election next Tuesday, it is true the club's activities were at a minimum. They apparently heard the still small voice of their particular authority, and heeded it.

But from the looks of things it seems that the clubs are going through the motions of reopening—the heat is off, so to speak. And from experience we can expect little from the police in the way of closing down these places.

The individual police are not new, and to our mind never have been, the ones upon whom the criticism should fall. It is the system that is followed in the county which deserves the blame, for the fault lies in a method of appointments removing the police from direct responsibility to the people whom they serve.

We suggest that it would be far better if the appointment of the police personnel was taken out of the hands of the Circuit Court Judge, who now is charged with that responsibility. We believe that under the proposed county executive form of government the situation with regard to the illicit operation of gambling and drinking joints would be cleared up.

When criticism is leveled at lack of police efficiency in stamping out a community blight such as the nip joints and clip joints that are so numerous in the county, there is no one to whom it can be directed. The judge, who is also appointed, is not answerable to the people as an administrator (for appointive powers such as his are indeed administrative) and hence needs to do nothing. Were the police answerable to the Board of Supervisors, then something could be done, for the Board in turn is directly answerable to the people. The people could let the Board know at the polls if the police way of handling the illegal clubs was not according to the people's dictates, and that would be the surest way to keep the police department in line.

The county executive form of government, now being proposed for Princess Anne County, has as one of its best features, we believe, the placing of the police department directly under the Board of Supervisors and taking the appointment of the chief and personnel out of the province of the Circuit Court Judge.

The helplessness of the people of Princess Anne County to close up these so-called clubs would not continue under the county executive form of government.

The will of the people has a way of imposing itself if it is backed up with a vote.

THE LADIES, GOD BLESS THEM

The published aim of the newly formed Woman's League for Good Government is nonpartisanship. Highly admirable, girls, and you are to be commended.

But have you found out what this big word means? We think you should know before you use it. Here is what our dictionary says: "Not partisan; . . . characterized by absence of partisanship; as, a nonpartisan board; nonpartisan action."

One of our staff members attended the Monday night meeting of the group at the Community House. The gathering was purportedly called to discuss the county executive form of government which has been proposed for Princess Anne County and which comes up for a vote on January 15.

Much to our staffer's chagrin, what should appear at the back of the stage but a huge banner, expertly and apparently professionally executed, which read: "Vote and Talk No on the County Executive, January 15th." While this appeared to lean just the tiniest bit to the partisan view, our staffer still listened with open mind to the discussion. Well, Mr. Sidney Kellam was the guest of honor, and he spoke at some length against the proposal; next on the list came Mr. P. W. Aekins, with a little speech that, summed up, meant: "You can't do this to us." Completing the speeches then were Mr. Fred Haycox and a Mr. Spivey, the list of whose addresses meant much the same thing. None of the proponents of the plan were heard from, and as far as we can discover had not been asked to express their views.

We just can't believe that the occasion, as it was reported to us, was a nonpartisan one. We believe that the girls have been kidding us, and with a merry twinkle in their pretty eyes thought it would be a joke to call themselves "nonpartisan."

We suggest to the Ladies Auxiliary of the Kellam Machine—oops, beg pardon—the Woman's League for Good Government that they change their stage banner to read: "Vote and Talk MAYBE on County Executive, January 15th." If they still want to carry on the myth of nonpartisanship, at least that would further it. Their guest speakers to date certainly have not.

Mrs. W. J. Whitehurst Dies At Age of 93

Mrs. Ida May Perkins Whitehurst, 93, widow of William J. Whitehurst, died at the residence, Lynnhaven, Princess Anne County, on Tuesday.

She is survived by a son, F. Milton Whitehurst; a granddaughter, Mrs. W. B. Allen, both of Lynnhaven, and two great-grandchildren, Miss Carey Allen and William B. Allen, Jr.

Mrs. Whitehurst was a native of Camden County, N. C., and had been a resident of Princess Anne County for 60 years. She was the daughter of Dr. R. C. and Martha Shield Perkins and a sister of the late Dr. R. S. Perkins. She was a member of the Lynnhaven Presbyterian Church.

Funeral services were conducted at the Holcomb-Brown Funeral Home Thursday. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

New York—Manufacturers, distributors and retailers, looking about for new economic markets for their goods, are rapidly becoming aware of a new "layer" of customers. There are now in this country some 12,000,000 persons past 65 years of age—almost twice as many as in 1900—and statistics show that by 1950 there will be 20,000,000 or more in this age group.

What interests the merchants is that almost all of these elders have steady sources of income—either from jobs, savings, pensions or Social Security. A decade ago just the reverse was true—most persons over 65 were quite destitute.

Already some businessmen are showing at least part of their sales efforts for these persons. In Florida, for instance, a group of real estate men have begun to build a "retirement village," to consist of some 6,000 homes in a modest price range. They are designed for comfortable living for two people, but can be easily expanded by the addition of extra bedrooms.

But housing is only one of the things needed or wanted by older people. Makers and sellers of everything from automobiles to garden tools and fishing tackle realize that today's "oldster" is much more hale and hearty than his counterpart of a generation ago and is a potential customer who cannot be ignored.

In less than 15 years the 65-year-old group will be receiving and spending between 16 and 20 per cent of the national income. The distributor handling products that today's and tomorrow's young-minded "oldsters" will buy will get his share of the new market.

NO LEGAL OBLIGATION

Every once in a while—maybe oftener than most people realize—a manufacturer takes a step in the public interest that goes well beyond his routine role of making a good product and selling it. An example came to light recently when a large manufacturer of gas refrigerators offered to replace obsolete models at the wholesale cost of new ones. For some time, in certain sections of New York City, gas appliances have been the cause of quite a lot of trouble and some tragedy. A local utility had stopped its periodical servicing, and there were thousands of neglected appliances, many of them more than 20 years old. The national magazine Business Week now reports that when it became apparent that the neglected appliances brought about fatalities, the manufacturer stepped into the breach. It quietly put into operation a far-reaching corrective program, and in ten months spent half a million dollars training servicemen, warning families to have their appliances checked, and replacing obsolete models at wholesale cost. As the City Health Department told the magazine's editors, the company took this step despite the fact that it was

"without any legal obligation." This New York City area was the one major spot in the country where the utility does not provide service for the appliances it supplies with gas, or at least assume responsibility for the caliber of service offered.

THINGS TO COME—An automatic typewriter being marketed by a Rochester company combines the functions of tape perforation and multiple copy reproduction in one compact machine.

A new ladder makes it possible to use ladders safely on uneven surfaces. . . . For the sportsman, a pocket-size kit contains 37 different items, ranging from bandage to a bottle opener. . . . A New York firm has an adhesive which it claims will join glass, wood, paper, porcelain, cloth, leather, marble, plastic, rubber and metals, and any combination of these materials. . . . A Chicago company has a gelatin compound designed to prevent pigeons from making a roosting place of your window sills. It's reportedly harmless to the birds.

NEW FIELDS TO CONQUER—Many of us remember when we had to use earphones to listen to a radio, and what a wonderful invention then seemed the loudspeaker. It now looks as if something similar may soon happen to television.

Researchers at the Radio Corporation of America have been challenged to develop an electronic "amplifier of light" for television, which would be to TV what the loudspeaker was to radio. They have also been challenged to produce a television picture recorder, which would be the video counterpart of the phonograph record, and an electronic air conditioner for the home which would be noiseless and would have no moving parts.

BITS O' BUSINESS—Employment in the nation dropped off a bit in September as student workers returned to classrooms, but employment remained steady at a mere 1,000,000. . . . National Production Authority has warned vacuum cleaner manufacturers to expect further reductions in allocations of zinc, copper and steel. . . . Federal Reserve Board estimates September's industrial production at above the same level as August.

Three County Men Enlist in Navy

Navy Recruiter W. B. Tennant announces that three men have recently enlisted in the Navy and are undergoing training at Great Lakes, Illinois. They are:

Norman Ellsworth Schroeder, husband of Mabel Lee Schroeder, of Back Bay; Nelson Leonard Malbone, husband of Catherine Virginia Malbone, of Route 1, Princess Anne; and James Welton Lee, of 31st and Baltic Avenue, Virginia Beach.

15,000 MILES OF LUMBER PRODUCTION

It would take 1,000,000 boxcars, which would reach across the United States five times, to carry the nation's lumber production in one year.

Facts and Figures Needed in Study of Fishing Industry

Commercial Fishing Interests May Help Improve Conditions

More facts and figures are needed if Virginia's commercial fishing industry is to improve its position, according to the Advisory Council on the Virginia Economy.

The council, acting on a committee report submitted to it in Richmond recently, complained that at present there is no accurate, up-to-date system for getting detailed information on fish catches in Old Dominion waters. Without such facts, it concluded, no one can tell whether the State's fishing industry is realizing its potential.

Detailed monthly statistics are needed, according to the committee report approved by the council. To improve the situation, the council recommended institution of a system followed successfully in California for the past twenty years. This plan provides that a carbon copy of all receipts for the sale of fish is given to the State by the fisherman, on a monthly basis.

In the field of private action, the council recommended:

1. That every possible method of reducing the high production, processing and distribution costs which are making it difficult for Virginia finfish producers to compete with quick-frozen filets from other regions be explored and put into effect.
2. That continuing research as to the best markets for Virginia fisheries products be carried on.
3. That new methods of quick-freezing and merchandising, particularly for shellfish, be developed and that a Virginia or Chesapeake Bay organization for the national promotion of this area's seafood be formed.
4. That many fishermen, processors and dealers in the finfish branch of the seafood industry, except for menhaden, shift gradually to shellfish, not only because of the better market outlook for Virginia oysters, crabs and clams but also because of the greater opportunities for large and stable annual catches.
5. That individuals and firms connected with commercial fishing cooperate in the establishment and operation of a state program for the regular collection and prompt publication of fisheries statistics.

Eggs With Musty Odor Pose Special Marketing Problem

"It will especially pay egg producers and dealers during the next month to keep a sharp lookout for eggs with musty odors," says F. R. Abbey of the Virginia Division of Markets.

Musty eggs pose a special problem in the egg industry. While easily recognized when broken open by the consumer, they are difficult to detect through the usual grading methods.

"The best way for a producer or dealer to check eggs for mustiness is to get right down and smell them," says Mr. Abbey. If a case of eggs smells musty, the chances are that all the eggs in the case are in that condition.

Mr. Abbey reports that musty odors of ammonia are prevalent in damp, cool, and enclosed dampers.

Other causes, he said, include the use of ragged, dirty cans that have been kept for any length of time in damp surroundings and the packing of eggs in containers that are in direct contact with a damp floor.

Egg handlers can best avoid trouble with mustiness, says Mr. Abbey, by supplying producers with clean, new egg cases and by making sure that eggs are kept above the floor level and in well-ventilated surroundings.

Major and Mrs. Walter Beckett, Jr., and young son, have returned to Langley Field, Va., after visiting Major Beckett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beckett, at their home on Pocomantas Drive.

Dividend Payments To Veterans Over Half-Way Mark

Payment of the second special dividend on National Service Life Insurance policies has passed the half-way mark, the Veterans Administration reports, with more than 4,000,000 checks mailed to eligible policy holders, out of an estimated total of slightly over 8,000,000.

The total amount payable in the second dividend is estimated at approximately $600,000,000. The checks already mailed total slightly more than $300,000,000.

With the dividend checks going out approximately on schedule, VA predicts that the checks will go into the mails by April, 1962. This would mean the payments would cover a period of one year, as originally planned.

The dividend is payable to veterans who had National Service Life Insurance policies in force with premium payments for three months or longer between the anniversary date in 1948 and the corresponding date in 1951. It is not necessary for veterans to make application for the dividends.

Pfc. George A. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Jones, of London Bridge, was recently selected an outstanding airman in dental service in the Air Force and has been assigned to the State University of New York where he is taking an accelerated two year course in advanced dental laboratory technology.

one policy during the three-year period, VA cautioned, dividend payments will be made separately on each policy, usually on different dates. When a NSLI policy expired during the period and was renewed, the veteran would thus receive two checks, if premiums were paid for three months or more on each policy.

If veterans have changed their addresses, VA said, the dividend check will be forwarded under instructions of the Treasury Department to the Post Office Department, provided the veteran has left his new address with his former post office.

OCEANA DEFEATED BY GREAT BRIDGE

Oceana was defeated by Great Bridge last week by a score of 12 to 6. Great Bridge scored early in the 1st quarter by a delayed pass by Curling. The Cavaliers scored in the second quarter when McCall ripped through the left side of the line for a 30-yard touchdown. At halftime, the score stood 6-6. In the third quarter, Curling, of Great Bridge, scored again to put Great Bridge in the lead 12 to 6, which was the score at the end of the game.

Miss Gregory Directs Vassar Production

Miss Janet E. Gregory, a senior at Vassar College, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Gregory, of Virginia Beach, was the director of the dramatic production for First Hall, "The Adding Machine," by Elmer Rice, given Friday and Saturday of last week. Miss Gregory has been active in the Dramatic Workshop and the Experimental Theater.

Oceana takes on the Graceland team, a much bigger foe, Friday (tonight) at 8 o'clock in the Oceana Stadium.

ANNUAL PHOTOGRAPHY

The staff of the Oceana High School annual has been very busy this week with photography, and everywhere one turns there are pictures in the making. Work is expected to be completed in all candid work this week; portraits will be finished in the near future.

Seniors wish to express their sincere thanks for the support of all merchants and other friends who have worked so wholeheartedly with the class in an effort to make the "Cavalier" of 1962 the very best yet. It is their hope that all who have contributed will receive great benefits through their advertising. The group is still canvassing, but hope to complete sales within the month.

BAND PERFORMS AT HAMPTON-SYDNEY

The Oceana High School band traveled to Hampton-Sydney on Saturday, October 27, to perform during the Hampton-Sydney vs. Western Maryland game. It was "homecoming" for Hampton-Sydney and the crowd was tremendous. The Oceana band was the only band at the game. Its performance was great and something to really be admired.

The Oceana band also performed at the Oyster Bowl game and received even greater applause. Under the direction of Mr. James A. Cantwell, the band has swelled in size and accomplishment. New routines have been worked out and new instruments added.

The band will make its next appearance in the Oceana Stadium Friday night, November 3, at the Oceana-Cradock game.

W. T. Cooke School News

The boys and girls in Mrs. Avel's fifth grade have completed an interesting and helpful unit on Safety and First Aid—subjects for which we find a need at all times. Our class motto is "Safety and Be Prepared." The why and how of first aid has become a very important lesson to each of us because a number of the pupils come to our room for first aid, therefore we have a chance to use our knowledge. We learned how to equip a first aid kit for home and classroom. Since there are no first aid cabinets in the classrooms, the members of the class painted cigar boxes white. The class went to the American Red Cross room and filled the boxes with first aid supplies furnished by the P.-T. A. When we finished packing the first aid box we were invited to visit the bloodmobile unit which was in operation. It was interesting to see the blood being taken from the donor without any discomfort. Several members of the class expressed a desire to give blood but we were too young.

We studied safety in the home, on the street, and on the playground. Since fire prevention week came during the unit, we made a survey of our homes for fire hazards. It was interesting to note the number of fire hazards we found in our homes. A visit was made to the fire station where Mr. Bayne, the fire chief, appointed guides to take us in groups on a tour of all the offices. We learned how fire calls are received at the station and how they are relayed to all firemen. At the end of the tour we assembled in the recreational room where a prize was awarded to the boy and girl who had found and corrected the most fire hazards at his or her home. Mary E. Howell was presented a box of candy and Leslie White, a flashlight, as winners.

To climax the educational tour a big white fire truck was rolled out of the station and we were given a ride back to school. We feel that this unit will always remain in our memory as a reminder to try to prevent accidents, but if they happen to keep cool and call a doctor.

Voting Strong in VFW Auxiliary Baby Contest

With two more weeks to go, the VFW Auxiliary's beautiful baby contest is going great guns, with the 14 little contestants drawing their daily quota of votes in the boxes placed under their photographs which are on display in the Beach Theatre lobby.

In first place, according to Mrs. James Clifton, is little Mary Jane Robertson; second is Virginia Clifton; third, Bobby Brothers; and fourth, Diane McChesney.

The Auxiliary says that there is no telling how the final vote will go, and urge everyone to visit the theatre lobby to see the two pictures and cast votes for their favorites. The contest closes on November 15, with winners to be announced soon thereafter.

Other entries besides those in the first four places are: Betty Ann McNeil, Debora Denise Godwin, Katherine Ann Craft, Linda Ricks, Cheryl Baugh, Eugene George Patton, Jr., Steven Dwight Hines, the little Willis twins, Edward Noldan, Jr., and James Ramsey, Jr.

A referee's whistle can be a real help to a busy housewife. Use it to call the children from play, or your husband to answer the phone. You may want to work out a signal for each member of the family.

Oceana Cavaliers To Meet Cradock Admirals Tonight

Oceana's Cavaliers face a real test tonight when they entertain Cradock's Group One Admirals at the Oceana Stadium at 8 o'clock. Although rated the underdog in this contest, the Cavaliers can be counted on to put up a real battle all the way.

The Oceana eleven is still in the running for Group Two honors despite last week's 12 to 6 loss to Great Bridge. The Group Two leader may be decided in another game being played in Williamsburg tonight, where Mathew Whaley faces Churchland. A Churchland win would assure Oceana of at least a temporary tie for first place. The Cavaliers face the Churchland winners next Friday night at Oceana, to be followed on the 16th by the Ocean Bowl game with the Kempsville Blue Devils.

Local fans will have the opportunity tonight to see Cradock's Mickey Riggs in action. This backfield ace leads the Group One scorers. Last Friday night Riggs scored six touchdowns against Mount Vernon High.

The Cradock and Oceana bands will be on hand tonight to present the half-time show.

90% For! 10% Against

Railroad workers are represented by 23 standard unions. By mutual agreement, 20 of these unions—comprising about 1,200,000 men, or more than 90%—are working under wages and rules agreed to by them and the railroads. But leaders of three unions—with only about 130,000 men, or less than 10%—still refuse, after more than a year of negotiations, to accept similar wage and rules agreements. These are even more favorable than the terms recommended by the Emergency Board appointed by the President.

Yes, it certainly seems to be really about time that the leaders of the three unions stop their delaying tactics—their quibbling. But the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors continue to refuse. They continue a course of dillying and dallying. It is definitely time to END THIS QUIBBLING!

On June 15, 1950, an Emergency Board appointed by the President under the terms of the Railway Labor Act—an Act largely fathered by the unions themselves—made its recommendations on certain wage and working conditions ("rules") in railroad language, which had been in dispute between employees and the railroads.

More Than 90% of Employees Accept
Since then, terms equal to or better than the Board recommendations have been accepted by about 1,200,000 railroad employees—more than 90% of the total of all workers. They are represented by 20 of the 23 standard railroad unions.

Less Than 10% Refuse
But three unions—with about 130,000 men, or less than 10% of the total—have refused to accept, even after months of negotiations. These three unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. These are three of the so-called "operating" unions. Already the highest paid men in the industry, their leaders demand still further advantages over other workers.

In all, there are about 270,000 operating employees. But not all of them, by any means, are represented by BLE, BLF&E, or ORC. As a matter of fact, less than half—132,000 to be exact—are in these three unions. More than half—about 140,000—are in other unions, principally the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. What makes the whole situation so hard to understand is that these 140,000 operating employees are working under wages and rules which the leaders of the other 130,000 say they cannot agree to.

What Do the Railroads Offer?

They offer these three unions the same settlement which was contained in a Memorandum of Agreement signed at the White House on December 21, 1950, by four brotherhoods and the railroads. Later these brotherhoods sought to repudiate this agreement. But on May 25, 1951, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen signed a complete agreement carrying out the principles of the Memorandum Agreement of December 21. They have been working under this agreement since May 25.

What About Wages?

Under the terms of the agreement, yard engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving a wage increase of $3.44 an hour ($2.72 a day) and road engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving an increase of 19½ cents an hour ($1.66 per day). Large sums of retroactive pay have already accrued and if the agreement is carried out, will be paid promptly.

What About "Cost of Living" Increases?

The White House Agreement includes an "escalator" clause under which wages will be geared to changes in the Government's cost-of-living index. Two such increases—April and July, 1951—have already been paid to the 90% of railroad employees covered by signed agreements.

What About the 40-Hour Week?

The White House Agreement calls for the establishment of the 40-hour week in principle, for employees in yard service. The employees can have it any time after January 1, 1952, provided the manpower situation is such that the railroads can get enough men to perform the work with reasonable regularity at straight time rates. If the parties do not agree on the question of availability of manpower, the White House Agreement provides arbitration by a referee appointed by the President.

What Else Do the Union Leaders Demand?

The continued quibbling of the leaders of the three unions has to do principally with rules changes, which have already been agreed to by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Of these, the principle of "interdivisional seniority"—which takes in two or more seniority districts.

The union leaders would bar progress and efficiency in the industry, and better service to the public, by maintaining a situation where they can arbitrarily stop a railroad from establishing such interdivisional runs. The carriers propose that if a railroad wishes to set up an interdivisional run, the railroad and the unions should try to agree on such run and the conditions which should surround its establishment, and if the railroad and the unions can't agree, the matter will be submitted to arbitration.

But the three union leaders still refuse.

Rules Can Be Arbitrated

The railroads have not only offered these three unions the same rules agreed to by the BLE and covered by the White House Agreement, but have even agreed to submit such rules to arbitration.

The Industry Pattern Is Fixed

With the pattern so firmly established in the railroad industry, it seems fair to suggest that the leaders of BLE, BLF&E, and ORC stop their quibbling and take action to make the railroad labor picture 100% complete. Certainly today's economic and international situation calls for a united front. And certainly no good reason has been advanced why these three unions should be preferred over all other railroad employees.

State's Waysides And Picnic Areas Prove Popular

That Virginia's highway waysides and picnic areas are popular spots is obvious from their daily usage—but this week the State Highway Department had some additional proof of how much they are liked and needed.

A very minor news item headed "Bring Your Lunch" in a New York newspaper brought nearly a hundred requests for State highway maps. The little story merely said, "There is no need to worry about where to stop for good food when traveling along the highways in Virginia. You just bring along your own."

The article then mentioned that Virginia had some 50 waysides and 300 small picnic spots scattered along main highways, with the larger areas shown on the State highway map. Requests for the map flooded in.

More than an estimated million visitors stopped at the waysides and shaded picnic tables last year, with the larger areas accommodating over 50,000 counted visitors each.

Safety is the main reason for the highway waysides, engineers say. The areas provide safe parking places for breaking a long journey or picnicking.

State Certified Seed Directory Available From VPI, Blacksburg

Virginia's 1951 certified seed directory is now available from the Virginia Crop Improvement Association at V. P. I., Blacksburg.

Seed Certification Agent J. Garland Sanderson says the new directory lists all growers of certified seed in Virginia. Included among those are growers of certified wheat, rye, barley, oats, soybeans, red clover, fescue, tobacco, peanuts, hybrid corn, and sweet potatoes.

Only the growers whose small grain fields passed all inspections made by representatives of the State Certified Seed Commission are included in the directory.

The lists of growers for all other crops include those who have made application for inspections and certification. Most of them have had several years' experience in the production of certified seed.

Orders for certified seed may be accepted by the listed growers only with the understanding that they will be filled if and when certification is complete.

N. & W. Authorizes Construction Of 15 Switching Locomotives

Fifteen additional modern coal-burning steam switching locomotives have been authorized for construction by the Norfolk and Western Railway in the company's Roanoke shops. The cost will be about $1,450,000.

The locomotives, known as Class S1a, will be identical to another group of 15 now being built in Roanoke, the last of which will roll from the shops next week. Then work will start immediately on six previously authorized heavy-duty freight engines of the V5 class. The new switchers will be begun early next spring and one scheduled for completion every 14 days.

The Class S1a is numbered in the 200's and has an 8-8-0 wheel arrangement. It has a tractive effort of 62,932 pounds, cast steel bed frames and oil lubrication of the driver journals. The engine's comparatively small drivers combined with high tractive effort bring quick acceleration and consequently more efficient yard operation. When the new order is completed the road will own a total of 60 locomotives of this type of modern switchers, including 30 acquired by purchase last year.

N. & W. motive power officials said that the new engines are replacing older switchers all over the line which were originally designed as road engines, and they not only have lower maintenance cost but higher availability. They further pointed out that the newest order is another example of the road's continued confidence in home-designed coal-burning steam power.

The Norfolk and Western today is the only American railroad building its own motive power. All of these locomotives burn coal.

Let's be Armchair Generals for 2 minutes and fifteen seconds

(ACTUAL READING TIME OF THIS ADVERTISEMENT)

Let's suppose that you are an Army general, and the United States is suddenly attacked. Your job is to move six divisions—three infantry and three armored—immediately. How would you do it?

You'd have to call on the railroads, of course. There is no other way to move those divisions and the equipment and supplies supporting them as swiftly and dependably as they would HAVE to be moved! The railroads—life-line of this nation in peace or war—would answer your call with:

3,760 pullman cars
534 kitchen cars
534 baggage cars
1,263 gondola cars
7,344 flat cars
300 box cars

This is a total of 13,725 cars—or 417 full trains. But this is only six divisions. Suppose you had to move twenty divisions! This would require 45,750 cars, or 1,393 full trains. That's mass transportation, and only the railroads provide the mass transportation that is vital in war and vital to the economy of the nation in time of peace.

Your railroads must stay strong.

THE NORFOLK AND WESTERN ALONE HAS SPENT AND AUTHORIZED MORE THAN $170,000,000 SINCE THE LAST WORLD WAR—FOR IMPROVEMENTS ALL OVER THE LINE—TO STAY STRONG.

Anything that hurts the railroads hurts the Nation, and you. Federal aid to competing transportation services—money that comes out of the taxpayers' pockets—denies the railroads an equal chance to compete for the traffic they must have to stay strong. All the railroads ask is the opportunity to operate under the free enterprise system of "every man standing on his own two feet"—an opportunity to serve this great nation, in peace or war, as only the railroads can serve it.

Won't you think this over for a few more minutes?

FOOTWEAR CAN BE ESSENTIAL
When a shoe is worn continuously it eventually gives out, but the foot is a renewable resource which, when properly cared for, goes on forever and ever.

Pedestrians Urged to Carry or Wear White After Dark on Road

Your chance of escaping a pedestrian accident will be much less if you carry something white while walking at night. John H. Day, vice-president of the Tidewater Automobile Association, said today as he announced the release of the November list of AAA safety educational materials being sent to Tidewater area in connection with the club's traffic safety program.

The club officials said statistics show that four out of five pedestrian fatalities occur during hours of darkness and the highest number of night accidents occur during winter months, when there are more hours of darkness.

"Most pedestrians fail to realize that it is difficult for the motorist to distinguish objects on the highway until his car is almost on top of them," Mr. Day said. "The bright lights of the approaching automobile seem to the pedestrian to be very bright, but actually they are effective only for several hundred feet. The average automobile, traveling at even the low speed of 30 miles per hour, covers this distance before the driver can react to avoid hitting a pedestrian. Light clothing enables the driver to see the pedestrian much sooner."

Mr. Day gave the following rules for pedestrians to safeguard themselves while walking at night.

1. Wear something white. White shoes are best, because the headlights of automobiles hit the pedestrian's feet first, giving the motorist more time to see the pedestrian and avoid hitting him. If you don't wear a white article, carry some white object, such as a handkerchief.
2. Walk on the left side of the County 4-H Clubs to Hold Annual Achievement Program Monday Night at Oceana High School

$350 in Prize Money And Loving Cups to Be Awarded 4-H'ers

Virginia's 4-H'ers—over 55,000 strong—are taking time out this week for a national observance. It is National 4-H Achievement Week, and throughout the State the club members are planning special programs, exhibits, and other activities.

Four-H Clubs in Princess Anne County will hold their annual Achievement Program on Monday night, November 12, at the Oceana High School, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Through this program 4-H Club members will show the public just what their program is doing in Princess Anne County and what they have accomplished during the past year.

Each of the clubs will put up an exhibit representing all of the project work conducted by its members, and at the same time compete for prizes offered for the best exhibits put up by the senior clubs and the junior clubs. These exhibits will be judged on display, educational value and quality of the project.

After the exhibits have been seen the members will put on a program which will bring out their achievements in 4-H work during the past year. These programs will be in the form of short skits by each of the clubs.

Following the program, all awards for the past year will be announced, the highest of which will be the loving cups offered to the senior groups and the junior groups. The cups are awarded on the basis of all 4-H work done during the past year and will be given on the spot system. Last year the cups were won by the Kempville Senior Club and the Courthouse Junior Club.

Approximately $350.00 won in prizes at the State Fair will be awarded, well as prizes for the best record books in each of the different projects, amounting to about $50.00; the Princess Anne Ruritan Club Contest prizes; the Bank of Virginia Beach Secretaries prizes; the Winn Nursery Home Beautification Contest prizes; the Princess Anne Farmers' Service Foultry Contest prizes; and the Sears Roebuck Garden Contest prizes.

Altogether the prizes to be awarded will amount to approximately $350.00, in addition to the prizes awarded in the Home Demonstration 4-H work.

Following the awarding of prizes, all those attending will be invited into the cafeteria for refreshments and the public is cordially invited to be present, according to H. W. Oslin, county agent.

Dr. W. E. Skelton, state club agent at V. P. I., said general purposes of National 4-H Achievement Week are to: make a report to the nation on 1951's accomplishments; see that parents and the public understand what youth is doing through club work; help members develop their 1952 plans; and emphasize opportunities afforded rural young people through the clubs.

By the end of 1951, the more than 20,000 club members taking agricultural projects will have put over $1,000,000 in their pockets. The four most popular projects, according to estimates, are: home and market garden, swine, poultry, and dairy.

In the homemaking projects, clothing continues to attract the most members. Also popular are food preparation and preservation, room improvement, home ground beautification, housekeeping, and laundry.

JAYCEES TO MEET TUESDAY FOR BUSINESS SESSION

The Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular business meeting at the Paramount Restaurant Tuesday, November 13.

Ocean Bowl Game To Match Oceana And Kempville

Dignitaries, Flouts And Bands in Event Set for November 16

By Oceana Reporter
Plans for the third annual Ocean Bowl Game are well underway, and because of experience gained in past years, there is an assurance of an even bigger and better entertainment this November 16.

Rivalry between Oceana and Kempville in all athletics is keen. This year both teams appear strong and eager for the contest. From all prospects, this promises to be the game of the year, but no real predictions can be made when these two teams are opponents.

Visiting dignitaries, floats, bands and attractive young girls will co-star with the teams for the center of attention. The Oceana and Kempville bands will participate with their usual snap formations and rhythmic selections. A number of floats will add to the colorful affair. These will include Oceana Queen and Attendants, a Kempville Sweetheart float, Oceana variety and junior variety cheerleaders, the Kempville cheerleaders, Future Homemakers of America, 4-H Club, Boy Scouts, and Girl Scouts.

The coronation of the Queen will be a special feature during the half time. Miss Patry Abernathy, a beautiful brunette, was selected as Oceana's Queen by the student body. The princesses in her court were likewise chosen by the students: Mary Lee Ward, senior; Marjorie Wolman, junior; Ruby Tomlinson, sophomore; Nita Myers, freshman; and Cleve Gayle, eighth grader. All are attractive young ladies.

Miss Joanne Sterling, chairman of the Ocean Bowl Game, is working with a committee of school authorities and local patrons. The parade will begin at approximately 7:00 p.m. November 16. General admission will be $1 and reserved seats $2.

Christmas Workshop For Scout Leaders

A Christmas Workshop for all leaders and committee women in Girl Scouting will be held Thursday, November 15, from 10:30 to 2 p.m. at the Home Demonstration Room in the new agricultural building at Princess Anne Court House.

Many ideas on decorations for the home, floral arrangements, table settings, and other Christmas ideas will be discussed. Those attending are asked to bring a small lunch. Coffee and dessert will be furnished.

Cook Transferred By Promotion to Richmond Office

Manager Here Since 1944; Successor Has Not Been Named

G. Fred Cook, Jr., for six years manager of the Virginia Beach office of the Virginia Electric and Power Company, has been named systems director of residential sales for the entire VEPCO system, according to an announcement by R. J. Throckmorton, vice president of the company.

Mr. Cook's new appointment became effective on November 1. His successor has not yet been named.

Mr. Cook is a native of Floyd, and was educated at the University of Richmond. He began his career with VEP after having served as athletic coach and principal of the Stuart High School.

Since going with VEP as a student engineer, Mr. Cook has served as transportation salesman, assistant to division sales manager and division lighting engineer in Richmond; sales manager in Fredericksburg, Suffolk and Portsmouth, and manager at Virginia Beach since 1944.

While at the resort Mr. Cook played a major role in the installation of a new 33,000 volt line from Norfolk, the extension of service to Knotts Island, N. C.; the installation of new lighting on the seawall and walkway and the doubling of the number of customers served.

He has also been active in the civic affairs of the resort and is treasurer of both the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce. He also served as director in both these organizations as well as on the Permanent Youth Commission, which directs the activities of the Community House and the Princess Anne-Virginia Beach Community Chest.

Mr. Cook is well known in sports circles, being an ardent golfer. He was president of the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club in 1950 and is now a director.

Highway Work to Continue As Winter Weather Permits

Route 165 Bridge Almost Complete; Open to Traffic

State Highway Resident Engineer J. H. Phillips reports that construction on U. S. Route 58 west of Virginia Beach would go through the winter with such work as could be done, depending on weather conditions. The present three-lane pavement will be kept open for traffic at all times, he said.

Work on Route 165 at the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal in Princess Anne County is virtually complete, the engineer said. The bridge has been finished, detour signs removed, and the pavement completed. Remaining to be done are final surface treatment and dressing up work, which will not interfere with traffic. This is also known as the North Landing Bridge, and opens the route via Princess Anne Court House to Great Bridge.

Winter weather will bring its annual slowdown to highway construction throughout the State this month as Highway Department engineers put into operation plans made much earlier for handling traffic in cold and wet weather.

Each project, engineers pointed out, is an individual case, but as a rule, complete or partial shutdowns are imposed during November on nearly all construction when winter weather would make traffic conditions difficult and interfere seriously with construction progress. All shutdowns usually are lifted on the first of April.

In some instances, particularly where State convict road forces must be employed throughout the year, construction will not be stopped unless there is other work to do. These forces frequently quarry stone for surfacing during the winter months or assist with snow and ice removal.

More than 100 projects totaling some $25,000,000 are under contract. Some 40 projects are being built by the convict road force.

November also will bring to a close all bituminous surfacing except where a prime coat can be put down in warm and dry weather to protect the road and maintain traffic.

POINT OF VIEW

The law seems perfectly logical until some traffic cop tries to enforce it.

Winners Call for Party Harmony, Peoples Support

4,844 VOTES CAST

Many Supporters of People's Ticket Make Effort for Candidates

Princess Anne County turned out more than 4,844 voters in Tuesday's general election, despite wind and cold, cloudy weather. At the Virginia Beach and London Bridge precincts, poll workers for the Machine candidates were untiring in rounding up the faithful, with cars calling for the voters to transport them to the polls.

The outcome was an overwhelming victory for the Machine with write-in candidates averaging about 10 per cent of the vote and valid ballots throughout the county accounting for another approximately 9 per cent (averaged for the county based on figures from three precincts).

The organized write-in campaign for defeated People's Ticket candidates, sponsored by supporters of that group in the August primary, brought about some friction in the county at large. At the Court House, rubber stamps prepared by the People's Ticket supporters, disappeared from the voting booths almost as soon as they were placed there, according to information received here. At the London Bridge precinct, loss of another to an outspoken Machine supporter and poll worker, nearly precipitated a riot.

People's Ticket candidates had publicly announced that they would live up to their pre-primary pledge to support the candidates named in August as the Democratic candidates for the general election. All had also denied knowledge of the rubber-stamp write-in movement, which was made public at the eleventh hour with announcement of it in the public press by Duke Braithwaite, Virginia Beach real estate operator. Observers have indicated that Machine workers redoubled their efforts to get out the vote as the rubber-stamp campaign became known.

Prominent workers at the polls throughout the county included Sidney S. Kellam, State Conservation Commissioner, who spent the day at the Virginia Beach poll; and Judge Floyd E. Kellam at the Court House poll, according to an observer there. Write-in workers were Mr. Braithwaite, Gordon Oliver, at Bayside, and Clayton Davis, at London Bridge. Statement Made

A statement issued immediately after the count by the winners indicated that the Machine forces would rally their support to defeat the referendum to be held January 15 on the county executive form of government and appealed to citizens of the county to support them to this end.

The statement issued by the winning candidates, all of whom will assume office January 1, follows:

"We are very grateful to the voters of our county for the confidence they have shown in us by the votes they cast for all the Democratic nominees, it being the second largest vote cast in any election in our county.

"We, as members of the dominant political organization of our county and as officials-elect, want to thank our many friends and supporters for their effective work in our behalf both today and during this campaign.

"We shall call all in our power to continue the type of good government that we have had in the past and solicit the cooperation of all the people to assist us to this end.

"We believe that the best way to cast in today's election is to vote for the candidates who we believe will best represent the people of our county."

PARTY LOYALTY

The election is over; the winning nominees have been assured that they will go into office on January 1; and the shouting is done. All of the shouting, that is, except the continued allegations on the part of the successful Machine candidates and their mentor about party loyalty.

According to one newspaper, one organization leader had words to say about demonstrations of party loyalty on the part of the defeated People's Ticket candidates. To our knowledge, not one of those candidates failed in his oath of party loyalty, even though there was probably a lot of mental nose holding when they went to the polls to vote.

As to the backers of the People's Ticket, the few who went to the polls to write in the names of candidates were within their rights to protest in that way the outcome of the primary in August. They could have in no way, moreover, jeopardized their right as Democratic party members to vote in the next Democratic primary, since they cast their write-in vote for Democrats.

Many others, it is true, simply failed to go to the polls at all, another form of protest, not lack of interest.

One of those, a true-life-long Democrat—a Democrat in the tradition of Jefferson and Jackson—summed up the attitude of the many who may be charged with party disloyalty by their non-appearance at the polls, as follows:

"I am like Senator Byrd in his recent speech in Selma, Alabama, although even he, I am afraid, might be accused of party disloyalty. He said: 'We in the South always respond to honest, sincere and responsible opinion. But by the same token we . . . will always fight hypocrisy, turpitude and irresponsibility. I am convinced that the survival of the true Democratic Party depends upon an immediate showing of political verity in the South with a will to fight those things and those things they are doing which can lead only to the defeat of Democracy and all of the freedoms we hold dear.'"

"I feel the same way about the Kellam machine in Princess Anne County as the Senator does about the Trumanites in Washington, even though the Kellam machine and its followers are supposedly war heaters of Mr. Byrd's own machine."

"I believe that democratic principles in the county can only survive upon an uprising of political verity to fight those people and those things they are doing that are resulting in the enslavement of all our precious freedoms right here on the home level. I feel that these Machine people are no longer deserving of the name 'Democrat.'"

Those are strong words, but so were the Senator's. There are many people in the county who believe that the Machine, as it has functioned in the past years, has not been a true reflection of the kind of democracy or Democratic Party principles that we believe in. There are people who believe that the Kellam machine's special privilege and favorites are not one whit better than the Trumanites and their special privileges, their homes, and vernal supporters.

These are the people who are not particularly impressed with the Machine's talk of party loyalty. These are the ones who will form the backbone of the fight against "hypocrisy, turpitude and irresponsibility" in Princess Anne County—a fight which will continue until success is theirs.

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK

Never have our schools been called upon to do so much with so little. Therefore, National Education Week, November 11-17, calls for the wholehearted support of every American interested in an enlightened citizenry, a united people, and a nation capable and prepared to lead a troubled and fearful world in this period of crisis.

Your children, and through them you and the entire community, will emphasize the following topics during the thirty-first observance of American Education Week: "Our Faith in God," "Schools and Defense," "Schools Keep Us Free," "Education for the Long Pull," "Teaching the Fundamentals," "Urgent School Needs," and "Home-School-Community."

Parents are invited to visit their schools and talk with the teachers and principal concerning the educational welfare of their child or children.

Mrs. Lena A. Madry

Mrs. Lena A. Madry, mother of J. T. Madry, of Madry Manor on 35th Street, died suddenly Sunday morning at her home in Scotland Neck, N. C. Funeral services were held there Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Madry, 80, was the widow of R. J. Madry, outstanding business man of Scotland Neck. She had been a frequent visitor at Virginia Beach during the past several years.

Frank Bischoff

Funeral services for Frank Bischoff, who died at his home at Virginia Beach last Friday, were held at Saint Mary's Cemetery in Washington, D. C., on Wednesday. A funeral mass was held on Monday at the Star of the Sea Catholic Church, Virginia Beach, prior to taking the body to Washington for burial.

Father Philip Brennan, former parish priest at Virginia Beach, attended the funeral services in Washington, as did Mrs. E. T. Stonell, of Virginia Beach.

Mr. Bischoff is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ada Bischoff; a brother, Roy Bischoff, of Washington; and a sister, Miss Gertrude Bischoff, of Washington.

Presbyterian Men's Club to Hear Lowe

Fred N. Lowe, production manager of the Norfolk Newspapers, will be speaker at the dinner meeting of the Presbyterian Men's Club on November 14, at 7 p.m., at the church. His subject will be "Eloin Shrediu and His Chamber of Horrors."

Program chairman is W. W. Stroud, President of the club is R. G. Basher.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

New York—From Washington comes news that the National Production Authority is working on a plan to require makers of parts and materials to set aside a portion of their output to take care of local repairs.

Many local service shops have been having considerable difficulty in getting repair parts and needed materials to keep such things as television sets, typewriters and automobiles in working order. If the parts or materials they need contain steel, copper or aluminum, they are entitled to use the "maintenance, repair and operating" provision of the Controlled Materials Plan to obtain them, but they still have trouble because the materials are not always available.

NPA officials say they are thinking of calling for a percentage set-aside at the manufacturing level for the exclusive use of the repair and maintenance people.

HOME BUILDING—The tendency of home building to move from crisis to crisis has left many a prospective owner floundering amid overlapping regulations and shortages of mortgage finance, and wondering whether to act now or wait for prices to come down.

A new study of the housing picture by Tom McDonald, vice president of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Company, recommends action now, because there seems to be every indication of a continued rising price trend and a pinch in building materials.

"The most logical and cheapest road to home ownership for many families is the modernization of a structurally sound 30- to 40-year-old home," Mr. McDonald said. One advantage enjoyed by remodeling, he says, is that there is no time limit on modernization. Financial commitments can be spaced out in accordance with the family budget.

His view seems to be leading in by some of New York's lending banks, which have launched advertising campaigns emphasizing the availability of funds for home repair and modernization loans.

State Committee Set Up to Assist Local TB Groups in Seal Sales

Sixteen prominent Virginians from all parts of the State will aid local tuberculosis associations in their 1951 Christmas seal sales campaigns, according to an announcement from Richmond.

Parke Rouse, Jr., of Williamsburg, will head a Statewide Seal Sale Committee which has just been organized at a meeting at the Hotel Jefferson in Richmond. Mr. Rouse is director of publications of Colonial Williamsburg.

President Charles Lock of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association, said, in announcing the committee, "We are very proud to have this fine group of public-spirited citizens to support the Christmas seal promotional activities of the local TB associations. Their mission will be to help the local groups in any way they are needed."

"Virginia has always responded generously to the wonderfully effective Christmas seals and the anti-tuberculosis work which they support," Mr. Lucy said. "This year we are expecting an even greater response."

The committee will work in co-operation with newspaper, radio, motion picture, and advertising people in Virginia to inform the public of the extent of tuberculosis and of the progress of efforts to control it," he explained. "We have come a long way in this direction in Virginia," he added, "but we have much farther to go. Too many people continue to be hurt or killed by the disease to permit us to assume that it has been conquered."

Members of the committee were announced as follows:

Thomas Pinckney, Richmond; Mrs. Helen Wine, Harrisonburg; Mrs. Emily Spong, Portsmouth; Miss Nora Spencer Hamner, Richmond; Mrs. Elizabeth C. Ryan, Lynchburg; Mrs. John J. Pohl, Newport News; Dr. Leland Tate, Virginia Polytechnic Institute; Sam T. Bowman, Bristol; Albert

News From OPS This Week

OPS Announces Meat Investigation to Continue
 Edward P. Morgan, Office of Price Stabilization Enforcement Director, announced recently that the nationwide investigation of slaughterhouses would continue indefinitely, while Michael V. DiSalle stated that violations uncovered by the check of the nation's more than 18,000 slaughterhouses ranged from failure to keep records required by OPS to putting horsemeat in hamburger.

 William F. Bailey, OPS Director of the four-state Region Four Area, revealed that investigation of 132 establishments in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina had turned up ninety separate violations.

List of Regulated Canned Vegetables Expanded by OPS

The Office of Price Stabilization has announced the addition of a number of canned vegetables to the list already controlled by Ceiling Price Regulation 55, the Norfolk District OPS Office declared recently. The expanded regulation now includes practically all canned vegetables and their products of the 1961 pack.

Amendment 5 to CPR 55, effective October 20, 1961, or any earlier date a processor may select, adds cost adjustment factors other than for raw materials for the following products: canned mixed vegetables; canned and bottled catsup; canned tomato puree, paste, and sauce; other canned or bottled tomato products; canned vegetable juices, including mixtures, but excluding sauerkraut; canned succotash, and other canned vegetables, excluding rhubarb, sauerkraut, asparagus, fresh cucumber pickles, pumpkin, and squash.

The cost adjustment factors are used in determining ceiling prices for the 1961 pack and are based on changes in processing costs, such as labor, labels and cans, which have occurred since 1948.

For further information on this regulation, OPS advises processors to get in touch with the nearest District OPS Office.

OPS Provides Further Extension Of In-Line Pricing
 A further extension of automatic in-line pricing at retail for several groups of consumer goods, including pianos, radios, housewares, electrical appliances, luggage, and sporting goods was provided recently by the District Office of Price Stabilization at Norfolk.

This change applies to retailers handling new categories of specified articles not included on their pricing charts. In-line pricing permits these retailers to apply markups derived from comparable categories already listed on their pricing charts.

New Cosmetic Gift Sets Brought Under OPS Regulation
 Supplementary Regulation 67

to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, which became effective on October 1, governs ceiling prices on new cosmetic gift sets, the Norfolk District OPS Office has announced. The supplementary regulation, however, does not apply to such imported sets, and relates only to the Continental United States.

The regulation sets forth a pricing formula for sale to all classes of buyers, pricing methods being substantially the same as those provided for in section 34 of Maximum Price Regulation 393, issued by the Office of Price Administration and reflects the customary method employed in the industry for pricing cosmetic gift sets.

The approaching Christmas gift season makes this regulation of special interest to buyer and seller alike just at this time.

Questions and Answers

Q What type of sign should be used in posting prices of services and commodities offered by service stations?
A There are no specifications for such signs except that they must be readable, clearly visible to the public, and that they must have the heading "Ceiling Prices," or "Ceiling Ceiling."

Q My coal dealer tells me that the price of coal has increased to him. Is this true?
A Yes. The Interstate Commerce Commission granted a freight rate increase on coal. Dealers are allowed to pass this on to consumers, but in this area it should not exceed 20 cents per ton.

Q Can nationally advertised merchandise be sold under ceiling prices?
A Not only nationally advertised merchandise, but any merchandise may be sold below ceiling price.

Class of Sixth Graders at Cooke School Entertain at Souvenir Shop Party for Parents, Friends

Twenty-eight youngsters in Mrs. Grace DuVal's sixth grade this week entertained parents, friends, and other students with a Souvenir Shop, culmination of their school work so far this year.

The Souvenir Shop was designed to develop all of the subjects studied—history, geography, social studies, and others, with the exception of arithmetic—and obviously the youngsters all deserved an A for their work.

The class, one of three sixth grades at Willoughby T. Cooke School, is made up of children, with the exception of three, who are new to the Virginia Beach school. For the most part, they are the children of Army and Navy personnel, and most of them have lived their short lives in foreign lands.

For example, there is young Hart Adams, son of Capt. and Mrs. C. R. Adams, who was born in China, and displayed at the Souvenir Shop his birth certificate in Chinese; two Navy children, Jean Alexander and Sandra Bangert, both have lived in Newfoundland; two others, the Leverton twins, Joan and Joyce, were in Hawaii at the time of Pearl Harbor, and a third, Betsy Southland, was born in Hawaii. Robert Riera and Frank Shine are two more who once called Hawaii home.

The children arranged the entire display, which consisted of souvenirs from the lands in which they had lived. There were native costumes, dolls made in many countries, pictures, pottery, flags, and objects of interest of all types on exhibit. There was a native machete which had accounted for a Japanese in a struggle for survival between him and a downed American flyer; there were Japanese battle flags; there was a huge cup and bowl presented to one of the Navy fathers by the King of Norway; there was a Mother-of-Pearl rosary, made in Italy, and blessed by the Pope.

The youngsters took turns explaining the various souvenirs, and those who had lived in the lands from which the souvenirs came took charge of the exhibits arranged geographically.

In the class are: Hart Adams, John Blitch, William Brackett, Torrence Edwards, Manly Grimstead, John Hubbs, Donald McDonald, Tommy O'Neil, James Oppenheim, John Pruden, E. W. Scruggs, Frank Shine, Guy Smithson, Peggy Alderman, Joanne Alexander, Nellie Baillo, Sandra Bangert, Patsy James, Joan, and Joyce Leverton, Patricia Nuckols, Robin Riera, Carolyn Scarborough, Merrill Sleight, Betsy Southland, Linda Jones, Barbara Hamilton and Julia Runke.

Thomas Shoemaker, USAF, who has been visiting his parents, Admiral and Mrs. James Shoemaker, will leave this week for Spokane, Wash., where he will be stationed for duty.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"Talks Turkey" - Long Distance

Some people checked when Sonny Fisher rented a home recording machine to record the sales his flock of turkeys make.

"I sent the recording to a buyer for a super-market chain," Sonny said. "I told them 'My turkeys speak for themselves—listen to this record!' They not only took my birds, but bought the record!"

"Why did they want the record?" I asked him. "Very simple," he says. "They're going to play it over the loud speakers in their stores—and then an announcer on another record reminds the customers that turkeys are plentiful and a good buy."

From where I sit, it's not always smart to make fun of someone just because he does things a little differently. I think a glass of beer is the most refreshing beverage there is. Yet—or Sonny—may prefer something else. But who's to decide one's right and the other's wrong? Let's stay "on record" that everyone's entitled to his personal tastes and opinions.

I SAVED $116.66 ON THE CAR I BOUGHT

"I made over a 10% down payment on a late-model car. I was told it would cost me $297.00 to have the car and finance the balance of $200.00. Luckily for me I'd learned a State Farm agent had bought the same car for $180.00. I saved $116.66. (One of many actual cases.)"

Bayside PTA Plans Health Program For Children

47 Per Cent of 750 Children Examined Need Dental Work

The Health Council of Bayside Parent-Teachers Association met with Mrs. R. S. Mullin, chairman, and Mrs. Grace Harrell, principal of Bayside School, on Wednesday, October 31, to discuss health plans for the children.

Mrs. Mullin announced results of the dental clinic held at the school October 24. At that time Dr. G. C. Trumbo looked at the teeth of 750 children and found that 47 per cent were in need of dental work. Parents of these children will be sent a notice to that effect. The Health Council will make appointments and arrange transportation to the dentist during school hours, if the parents are unable to attend to the matter themselves.

Mrs. Mullin appointed Mrs. S. B. Goode as transportation chairman and Mrs. Charles M. Hickman, Jr., chairman in charge of the letter to parents. Mrs. F. R. Gregory was appointed as secretary.

The council also discussed plans for a clinic at which diphtheria shots would be given. All parents will be notified by letter if plans are completed for this clinic.

The clothing and shoes would be used for the children attending school who need them; all clothing not used for this purpose will be sold and the money collected used for needy families. Public Invited to Hear Rent Control Official Wednesday

Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County renters, landlords, and home-owners will have a chance to learn how new rent control regulations affect them when Karl Goodbread, manager for the Rent Control Office of the Norfolk District (which includes Princess Anne County and the Town of Virginia Beach), speaks at a public meeting at the Town Hall on Wednesday, November 21, at 8 p.m.

Mr. Goodbread comes to the meeting at the invitation of the Virginia Beach Real Estate Board, which is sponsoring it.

"The people have so many questions regarding the effect of the new regulations that we believed that this would be the best way of informing them," said a member of the board. "We hope that the public will take advantage of the opportunity of hearing Mr. Goodbread and clearing up any questions that might arise." The public has been invited to attend the meeting.

Bonney Speaks On Rose Culture At Club Meeting

Tip on rose culture and illustrative slides in color of outstanding roses and rose gardens in Princess Anne County and Norfolk were the subjects of a lecture by George Bonney, past president of the Tidewater Rose Society, before the Princess Anne Garden Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Maclin Simmons on Monday.

Mr. Bonney stressed the need for healthy foliage in rose bushes. He told the garden club members that roses should be cut back to two feet from the ground as soon as the first frost comes. He suggested the use of buckwheat hulls as mulch for rose gardens, and recommended soil tests. Two inches of eye manure should be spread over beds at this time, he said.

He further recommended two climbers as being especially adapted to this area—the White City of York and the Torch.

Miss Elizabeth Gregory Hill, president of the club, reported on the meeting of the Board of Governors of the Garden Club of Virginia which she attended recently in Martinsville. Miss Hill said that the State club is particularly interested in the club's beautification project to plant dogwood and holly; she said that the board also stressed the need for garden clubs to interest themselves in zoning of their areas.

Two exhibits were a: Thank-giving arrangement prepared by Mrs. Walter Mitchell and Mrs. William Howard, and a tray of samosas by Miss Evelyn Collins Hill.

Winners in Voice Of Democracy Contest Announced

Four Girls Receive Radio; To Compete For County Winner

Four girls are the winners of the Junior Chamber of Commerce's Voice of Democracy Contest in the four high schools of Princess Anne County. They are: Alma Rae, Kempsville, who was last year's county winner and placed third in the State contest; Sandra Williams, Credits; Juanita Aldrich, Oceana; and Nancy Dales, Princess Anne County Training School.

Transcriptions of the four winning speeches on the subject "I Speak for Democracy" were made at WTAR in Norfolk, and from them the county-wide winner will be chosen. She will receive recognition as winning contestant, and will participate in the State contest at a later date.

Winners received radios as their prize, and the Jaycees have issued a special word of thanks to the distributors and suppliers who contributed the prizes. They are: Radio Supply Corporation of Norfolk; Fuel, Feed and Building Supplies Corporation of Virginia Beach; R. F. Trant, Norfolk; and Goodman Electric Company, Norfolk.

The contest is conducted by the Jaycees annually in cooperation with the National Association of Broadcasters and the Radio Manufacturers Association.

Lions Club Reports Broom Sale Monday Very Satisfactory

Lions Club members expressed satisfaction with the outcome of last Monday's broom sale in Virginia Beach and the surrounding areas, and continued last night to reach parts of Oceana and London Bridge which had not been canvassed.

Proceeds of the sale go to the club's fund to aid sight conservation, which is one of the principal projects of the organization. The brooms themselves were made by the Virginia Workshop for the Blind in Charlottesville.

The club was divided into five-man teams, each with a special zone to work.

Because of the interest shown by the community and by the Lions who participated in the sale, the club plans to make the broom sale an annual affair.

Dr. Frank Laubach To Speak at Churches Here November 30

Dr. Frank Laubach, head of the World Literacy Movement, will spend November 30 at Virginia Beach. He will speak at 11 a.m. at Galilee Episcopal Church and will make an informal talk at a luncheon at 12:30 at The Haven, the Episcopal Parish House. He will also speak at the First Methodist Church at 8 p.m.

Dr. Laubach is a world Christian leader and founder of many Christian prayer groups. He comes to this country to lead Christianity in its fight against Communism. His plans include visits to 25 leading cities of the country. He comes to Virginia Beach on the day following his visit to Norfolk where he is scheduled to speak at the Center Theater. All Beach and Princess Anne County people are invited to hear Dr. Laubach speak on November 30 on "Prayer" and "Christianity's Opposition to Communism."

Accompanying the missionary educator on his speaking tour will be Quentin Leisher, of the Congregational Christian Churches, Mrs. Charlotte Clough, of the Religious Book Club, and Dr. John Peters, of Oklahoma City, new staff member of the Committee on World Literacy and Christian Literature. The committee's work began in 1935 when it was organized to give support to the mass literacy work that Dr. Laubach began in the Philippines in 1930.

F. A. GARDEN CLUB TO HOLD PLANT SALE SATURDAY

Garden Club Christmas Festival To Highlight Yule Season Here

Plans are well formulated and the forthcoming Bay Colony Garden Club Christmas Festival will be one of the highlights of the Yule season, according to an announcement by Mrs. R. Lee Bonney, general chairman.

The event will be held in the Pantheon Room of the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club on Friday evening, November 30. Climax of the evening will be the presentation of awards to Princess Anne County's five best dressed women.

Music for dancing for the formal event will be furnished by Chick Ciccone and his orchestra, and during intermission a Festive Fashion Show will be presented by Florence Wilson.

Charter for City of Second Class May Figure In Plans

Annexation will probably take the spotlight at the regular meeting of the Virginia Beach Town Council on Monday night, in the Council Chambers at Town Hall, at 8 p.m., and it is hoped, according to a source close to the council, to be able to take up the proposed charter for the town when it becomes a city of the second class.

Annexation hit the headlines again this week after the joint committee studying the problem for Virginia Beach met to consider the feasibility of annexation of 1.63 square miles adjacent to the town. The committee, made up of a council-appointed group plus a self-styled "independent citizens" group which allegedly ordered an independent study made of the question, had twice turned in a negative answer on whether to annex, the first time early in 1950, the second time in June of 1951.

Area included in the annexation plan is from the limits of the town on the north to Fort Story, north Linkhorn Park, Bay Colony, and Cavalier Park.

A spokesman for the committee, according to report, has expressed the hope that the council will advance an annexation ordinance through the first and second reading before the General Assembly convenes. The town's plans for becoming a second class city, if far enough advanced, would preclude annexation action being taken. Since those plans depend on legislative action, it is believed that the annexation proceedings would be far enough advanced so that they would not be nullified by the town's second class status. (Law says that cities may not undertake annexation proceedings at the present time.)

In June, the committee recommended against annexation, saying that the majority felt that annexation was desirable but should not be undertaken until the town was in a better financial position to meet added responsibilities.

C. T. Whitehead, hotel operator, is chairman of the committee. Other members present at Monday's meeting were E. H. Church, secretary; Hunter Phelan, J. P. Gussy, Mrs. Lucy Trafton, Frank Dusch, James G. Kontopanos, J. W. Bright, and R. B. Taylor.

"BEWARE THE GREEKS BEARING GIFTS!"

The Virginia Beach News has always been a strong advocate of annexation of territory lying adjacent to the town. We believe, and we have said, that the area of North Virginia Beach, Bay Colony, Linkhorn Park, and Rudee Heights is not only geographically a part of Virginia Beach, but is culturally and economically one with the town. These sections are, indeed, Virginia Beach.

The joint committee, which last year and again in June of this year (not five months ago) had recommended against annexation proceedings, saying that the town was not financially able to swing it, met on Monday to reverse their action. This is the committee made up of councilmanic appointees, plus members of a "citizens committee." The latter had purportedly hired a firm in Norfolk to make a study of the problem (although council had already employed a Norfolk firm to make a similar survey) and it was subsequently divulged that the "citizens" report was paid for by the county.

What could have changed the situation since June to make annexation profitable and feasible now? Possibly the council report, brought up to date by the Norfolk engineers, changed the thinking of the committee. But it is hard to tell now.

Since June, for example, the Beach has acquired an extremely serious erosion condition that cannot be cured unless thousands upon thousands of dollars are spent, and that immediately. Some put the cost of repair in the millions.

Since June, it has been discovered that the Literary Fund loan of $700,000, which we were once told would not count against the town's bonded indebtedness, would be counted as part of the bonded indebtedness, and that it would scarcely fit under the 18 per cent legal limit.

Also since June, it was discovered that the high school would cost $847,722 instead of $700,000 to construct, excluding the cost of equipment, estimated at 15 per cent of the construction cost.

Also since June, the county has plans to cure the serious water supply situation in North Virginia Beach, which probably will amount to a minimum of around $75,000. This has to be done—it is a measure that has no alternative; yet with annexation it would mean that the town would assume the cost.

Also since June, it has become apparent that the Willoughby T. Cooke School is not large enough to house all of the elementary school pupils, a situation that would not be cured by annexation. Indeed, even without annexation it would appear that a second elementary school would be required.

These are but a few of the facts that would suggest that the financial situation of Virginia Beach has not improved since June—has indeed worsened considerably.

Taxes, one would guess, will be revised upward to meet the extra cost of the school, the increased teaching staff, the erosion control problem. Assessments, which have already been doubled in an effort to up the legal bonding limit, might even have to be raised once more.

Yet, when annexation is given the nod by council, as it was in its last session when they asked that the Sturgeon report be brought up to date, and when it gets the nod by that group of gentlemen, part of whom allowed the county to pay for a study ordered by them, the wary citizen has every reason to ask himself "Why, now?"

"Do we have another example of the red herring technique to obstruct the county executive plan being advocated by some? (Reason would go thus: Look, Virginia Beach is planning to take all of that territory; Norfolk will probably take East Ocean View. We'll be just a little bitty old county, and won't need a county executive. The pay-off would go thus: The people would wonder if the county executive would be necessary if that were true. The annexation court would say something like this: You aren't ready financially. And we would be back where we started.)

Or could it be that with the councilmanic elections coming next June the Machine believes that it can influence votes by saying: "Lookie, kids, we are going to give you everything you want."

To be perfectly frank, we cannot fathom the "why" of this one. We have every right to be suspicious, and suspicious we are. We suggest to our readers that they give a lot of thought to the problem before committing themselves.

Veterans May Claim Pension Because of Multiple Sclerosis

Veterans Administration said it will review all applications of veterans claiming compensation or pension because of multiple sclerosis (a kind of creeping paralysis) to determine whether those not now on the compensation roll are entitled to compensation under a new law.

Public Law 174, recently signed by the President, provides that multiple sclerosis, developing to a degree of 10 per cent or more disability within two years after separation from service or July 25, 1947, whichever is the earlier, shall be presumed to be service-connected.

Applications to be reviewed include those allowed for non-service-connected pension and those compensation and pension applications or cases which have been disallowed or terminated.

Among the veterans covered by the new law are those also covered by Public Law 28, 82nd Congress, which established wartime compensation rates and other rights for veterans who were on duty on or before June 27, 1950, who do not become disabled until two years after the President shall declare the cessation of hostilities in Korea.

Peacetime veterans are not covered by the new law. These are veterans who had no war service or were not in service on and after June 27, 1950, the beginning of the Korean campaign.

The Veterans Administration answered the following question: Q. Is it possible to get a GI loan to go into business on a partnership basis with a non-veteran? I'm a World War II veteran, and I meet all the eligibility requirements for the loan.

A. You may be entitled to the loan, provided you have at least 50 per cent interest in the partnership, and you will be actively engaged in the conduct of the business.

Questions & Answers About the Proposed County Executive Form

(Editor's Note: We start with this issue a series of questions and answers regarding the proposed County Executive Form of Government, which comes up for referendum on January 15. We hope that you will send in questions you may have concerning the proposal, and we will answer them the best we can, referring them to authorities in the State if we do not have the answer, and calling on the experience of other counties where the plan, or a similar plan, is now in practice.)

1. Is the proposed form of government more costly than the present form of government?

ANSWER: Counties in Virginia and elsewhere using a government similar to the proposed county executive form report decreased indebtedness, improved credit ratings, and savings in yearly expenses of at least 15 per cent. Such a saving to Princess Anne County should amount to a considerable sum annually.

2. Will the county lose State aid in abolishing the offices of Treasurer and Commissioner of Revenue?

ANSWER: There is no hope for the confirmation that the county would lose State aid. State aid is fixed by law for certain counties by these offices for the State.

3. Would the salary of the new county executive be fixed as are the salaries of the treasurer and commissioner of revenue at present? If not, the county executive's salary may be set higher than is necessary.

ANSWER: This is a very strong feature of the plan. The salaries of officials can be reduced or adjusted to the financial condition of the county. The Board of Supervisors, who fix salaries, are directly responsible to the people for amounts paid officials.

4. Is it true that the county executive form of government takes from the people the privilege of electing two of their major officers and creates too many appointive ones?

ANSWER: Yes. It is true that this privilege is taken from you. But when you consider the actual simplicity of the functions of these two offices, and the urgent need of combining them, this privilege becomes too costly. This privilege, in fact, is given back to you when you have the right of electing your board of supervisors, who in turn name the finance officer to do the work of the two. Under the present system the people have absolutely no say over many offices to which appointments are made either directly or indirectly by the Judge. The proposed plan reduces greatly the number of officers whom the Judge can directly or indirectly appoint. Under this plan appointive power is transferred from the Judge, who you do not elect, to the board of supervisors, who are elected by you.

State Health Department Urges Clean Rest Rooms at Stations

In an attempt to emphasize the importance of service station inspections and to reward those operators who maintain the highest standards of sanitation, Certificates of Merit are being issued by the Virginia State Health Department to all service stations which can meet the sanitation requirements.

These certificates serve as a special recognition to those service stations maintaining a high state of cleanliness, comfort and convenience beyond the minimum requirements of the state service station law, according to State Health Commissioner Mack I. Shanholts.

The Certificate of Merit lists six items of sanitation with which the service station must comply. Toilet facilities are required to be kept in an excellent sanitary condition and must include adequate handwashing facilities. Sewage disposal must be made by an approved sewage disposal system.

Other requirements for this certificate which must be met by the service stations include a water supply, the source of which meets all health department standards; some type of approved water dispenser which may be a bubbler fountain, spigot, or approved cooler with paper cups safely stored and dispensed; well lighted, ventilated, clean rest rooms which are maintained in a good state of repair; and clean, orderly premises.

Dr. Shanholts stated that when the management of the service station accepts a Certificate of Merit he pledges himself to strictly follow and maintain the standards on which the certificate was issued. If violations are found after the certificate has been awarded, it will be promptly revoked, he continued.

"There is no known service which will be more enthusiastically noted by the motoring public, provided the certificates are placed only in stations where they are merited," Dr. Shanholts said.

OCEANA High School News
County S. C. A. Meets at Oceana
Representatives from the three Student Councils of the county high schools met at Oceana on November 8. Sandra Williams, of Creeds High School, president of the group, presided.
Before lunch the group assembled in the auditorium where the members became acquainted. After lunch, introductions were made and the group was served in the home economics room.
Discussions during the meeting included a party for December, pen pals from other countries, exchange of assembly programs, and a County Play Day. Committees were appointed to gather information on these subjects.
One of the main objectives for the school year is to bring about a more friendly relation between the three schools. The members of the various councils feel that meetings of the entire county council for business sessions and recreation will bring about better relations.
The meeting adjourned with the understanding that Oceana would sponsor a party for the county S. C. A. early in December.

A customer writes: "We asked the Long Distance operator to locate a man at some point between a Newark townhouse warehouse and Flw 3 in Hoboken. It was a difficult job to find this man and required 24 hours. We want to congratulate you on the courteous and thorough manner in which the call was handled."

That's a good example of the kind of service you get on the Long Distance line. And today these lines are performing an even bigger job in helping to speed production and guard the nation's security.

Meet "The Other Fellow"

There's nothing extraordinary about him. He's just the ordinary man-in-the-street. He could be the neighbor down your street... a fellow who treats other folk the way he'd like them to treat him. That's why he's such a good party-line neighbor. It doesn't take any great effort on his part. Just little things like "centering" a lot of calls and answering promptly. Little things that make a very big difference in better service for all.

There's been a big change — all roads

Farms today are producing more than ever. And that didn't just happen. There's a reason for it, a reason that gets more done faster—and better. That reason is modern methods and machinery. Take the farm telephone—it's ready to save time and money in a hundred different ways. It buys, it sells, it's there for business. There for pleasure. And the service is growing daily with modern equipment, and new-type instruments. There's been a big change, a change for the better—for you.

Elizabeth Wight Kyle, Dr. Andrews Married Saturday in Norfolk

Miss Elizabeth Wight Kyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Emmett Kyle, of Albemarle, became the bride Saturday night of Dr. William Cooke Andrews, son of Mrs. Charles James Andrews, and the late Dr. Andrews, of Norfolk, in a ceremony performed at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Norfolk. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Moultrie Cherry, rector of the church, and the Rt. Rev. William Ambrose Brown, retired Bishop of the Diocese of Southern Virginia. The altar was arranged with ivy, white chrysanthemums and lighted candles. C. W. Wilkins, church organist, played the wedding music, and the wedding music by Lohengrin was sung by the Boys Choir of St. Paul's, who also sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding gown of ivory satin, fashioned with a bertha of heirloom lace, long sleeves tapering to points over the hands, and a full skirt with a cathedral train. Her full length veil of ivory illusion fell from a tiara of heirloom Mechlin lace and was worn over a veil of the same lace worn by the brides in her mother's family since 1792. She carried a Colonial bouquet of lilies of the valley and forget-me-nots edged in heirloom lace which belonged to the bridegroom's mother.

Miss Anne Wight Kyle was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Mason Cooke Andrews, of Norfolk, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Mrs. Charles Franklin Scott, of Petersburg, and Mrs. Robert Beverley Nash Francis, of New York. They all wore gowns alike of ivory faille, with full skirts and capes of faille trimmed in faille cording. They carried bouquets of white chrysanthemums and ivy, and wore wreaths of ivy in their hair.

Dr. Mason Cooke Andrews was best man for his brother. The groomsmen were Frank Dusch, Jr., of Concord, N. C., Dr. William Newcome Christenson, of Palm Beach, Fla., Dr. Bruce Stewart Mannheim, of New York, and Dr. Edwin Ide Smith, and Lt. (jg) Curtis Randolph Hudgins, Jr., of Norfolk.

The mother of the bride wore a gown of green crepe and a corsage of Fleur d'Amour and lilies of the valley. The mother of the bridegroom wore a gown of grey lace over white tulle, and a corsage of orchids.

Mrs. J. E. Dixon, of Pungo, spent several days in Staunton, Va., visiting her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Good.

Waterfowl, Other Game Seen Plentiful As Himrods Prepare for Opening of Season

Hopes are high, and the hunters' hearts beat with wild anticipation as they view these hope and marshes literally teeming with ducks and geese. For that fatal day draws nigh!

At noon, on Thanksgiving Day, the ducking season opens with a bang.

The tidy hunter has long since prepared his blind, oiled his gun, stocked up on shells, and set back to worry.

Indeed, there are plenty of ducks—ducks of all kinds, and geese. But—will the weather be right? Will the wild fowl gorge themselves so much on the lush growth of grass that they will finish it off before Thanksgiving? Will it be too hot? Will it be too cold? There are thousands of things a good hunter can worry about.

Food conditions are reported good in the bays this year, and the fowl are fat. Estimates of hunters are that the season will be the best in many years. There are canvasbacks, redheads, wildgeese, coots. There are plenty of geese. Flocks of wild swan are reported.

Estimates are: daily—ducks, 4; geese, 2; coot, 10; passenger-ducks, 8; geese, 2; coot, 10.

Quail, Rabbits, Pheasants

Season on quail, rabbits, grouse, turkey, pheasant opens November 30 and extends to January 30. Bag limits set by the State are: quail 8 a day, 125 a season; rabbits, 6 a day, 75 a season; grouse,

Deer

Deer may be taken with authors at least 2 inches above the hair in counties east of the Blue Ridge, and with at least two prongs on one antler in counties west of the Blue Ridge. Season statewide extends from November 30 to January 5, except that in Princess Anne County, Norfolk County and portions of Nansemond County the season opened October 1 and closes November 30. Cooke P.-T. A. Requests School Board Take Immediate Action to Alleviate Overcrowding in School

Board to Study Plan to Enlarge Cooke, Build New School

The Virginia Beach School Board will receive estimates of additional classroom facilities at the site of the present W. T. Cooke School and plans for another elementary school in the northern part of the Beach in an effort to solve the serious overcrowding of the present elementary school facilities.

At a joint meeting on Monday night with the town council and members of the Parent-Teachers Association, the whole problem of school overcrowding was discussed with members of the P.-T. A. group asking for immediate action.

Board Member Kenned Jarred urged that the present site be utilized for additional space, while the board president, Dr. W. L. Taylor suggested that in view of the town's annexation plans that a site more convenient to the North Virginia Beach area would be more suitable, although he, too, would have estimates of the cost of additional space at the present school as an alternative.

P.-T. A. Urges Action

Parent-Teachers Association members expressed the viewpoint that something must be done to relieve the present situation. The need is immediate, they declared, and should not wait another year. Frank W. Cox, superintendent of schools, answered that the increase of school-age children is outstripping all planning estimates.

He told the school board for the present term 12,750 more pupils than last year and he expected the increase would reach 400 more by the end of the school year. Cooke School, he said, is equipped to handle 600 pupils, but the enrollment is expected to reach 1,000 by June.

High School Won't Help

Mr. Cox pointed out that the Virginia Beach High School, scheduled to open in September, 1952, was expected to take care of the school needs of the community for five to ten years when it was planned 18 months ago. Now it is apparent it will be filled on opening day and the school problem will be right where it was.

The Community House, which has often been spoken of as a possible solution by making 10 classrooms at the old USO, would be impractical to convert, it was pointed out.

100-Bushel Corn Growers to Hold Banquet Tuesday

The annual banquet of farmers in the 100-bushel Corn Growers Club has been scheduled for next Tuesday night, November 27, at the Cavalier Hotel, with the Bank of Virginia Beach as host. All of the members are invited to attend the banquet, and E. H. Church, president, says that he expects to have the bank's directors present.

Sixty-four out of the 87 members had their corn yield checked and turned in their records, and the record this year is far better than the 1950 report. Forty-nine of the 84 members who reported will get 100-bushel Corn Certificates from the State office at Blacksburg. The 64 members made an average of 112.2 bushels of corn per acre.

Eighteen prizes will be awarded, ranging from $50.00 in cash to the top winner to $5.00 in merchandise. The total value of all the prizes will amount to $371.00. In addition to the above prizes a $35.00 radio will be given as a door prize.

$10,000 Goal Set for March of Dimes Drive in January

Chapter Officials Meet to Plan Drive To Start January 2

A $10,000 goal has been set for the January, 1952, March of Dimes, according to an announcement by the Board of Directors for the Princess Anne County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The board met last week at the home of Mrs. Wallace Clark, head of the county chapter, to formulate plans for the annual fund drive for the foundation, which starts January 2 and lasts through January 31.

Reports from board members were heard. Mrs. J. D. W. Cassada, Jr., treasurer, reported that even though Princess Anne County had but three new cases in 1951 that equipment, operations, and continuing care for cases previously stricken in years past had eaten heavily into funds on hand.

Mrs. W. W. Connell, Jr., reported on a recent meeting of the Foundation in Greensboro, N. C., covering North and South Carolina and Virginia.

Board members present included: Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Connell, Mrs. Cassada, Mrs. Walter B. Munden, Mrs. Ellis Dixon, Mrs. W. C. Everett, Mrs. Eldridge Whitehurst, Mrs. E. L. Cooper, Mrs. T. B. Pett, Woodbury Seamans, Mrs. R. W. Spruill, Mrs. V. Alfred Etheridge, and Mrs. R. Lynn Kennett.

Cooke PTA Plans Benefit Card Party At Legion Club

The annual benefit card party of the Willoughby T. Cooke Parent-Teachers Association will be held at the American Legion Club on Tuesday, November 27, at 8 o'clock.

The well known bridge authority and consultant, Ellis Butt, of Portsmouth, will be on hand to discuss individual bridge hands and problems with the guests.

Mrs. Charles H. Forbes, chairman of door prizes, said yesterday that many unusual prizes will be awarded, with individual prizes for each table. Refreshments will be served.

Proceeds will go to further the work of the P.T. A. at the Cooke School, which includes physical education equipment, first aid equipment, new library books, and repair materials for damaged books, visual aid films, band expenses and band music, beautification of the school grounds and the annual Christmas party for the school children, given the last day of school before the Christmas vacation.

Mrs. Frederick N. Lowe, general chairman of the party, says that all types of cards will be played and asks that players make up their own tables and bring their cards.

General Hunting Season Opens in State This Week

Deer, Bear, Turkey Must Be Checked at Checking Stations

Virginia's 1951 hunting season went into full swing this week when the wraps came off state-wide on deer, bear, turkey, quail, grouse, rabbits and squirrels. According to I. T. Quinn, executive director of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, the average hunter's chance of returning home with something in the game bag are excellent this year.

Noting conditions for the state's upland game birds ranged from fair to good through the hunting season, Quinn said that the state's quail covers should show before the season's game this year. The turkey populations are fair. They are especially up west of the Blue Ridge, but only holding their own in the east. Deer prospects look good throughout Virginia. They are in highest numbers from Central Piedmont to the Tidewater.

The Game Commission is making a special plea to the hunters this year to be careful with fire when they are in the woods and fields. Carelessness with matches or cigarette butts can ruin the hunting prospects for years to come.

Checking Stations for Deer, Bear and Turkey

For the first time in Virginia, turkey hunters will be required to have their turkeys tagged at official checking stations in the same manner as deer and bear have been in the last several years.

In those counties having open seasons on bear, deer and turkeys, checking stations will be able to check all these species. In some counties where hunting of bear and deer is not permitted, but turkey hunting is legal, stations will be established where the hunters will be able to check their feathered prey.

Checking stations will be distributed through every county having open season on bear, deer and turkeys, at strategic and convenient locations, such as crossroads, filling stations, and stores. County game wardens can furnish specific instructions and locations of stations in their counties.

Election of PMA Committeemen Set For December 7

Farmers Eligible to Vote Who Participate in PMA Program

Production and Marketing Administration community committeemen elections will be held in each of the five designated communities in Princess Anne County on Friday, December 7, according to R. W. Lane, chairman of the PMA Committee.

Every farmer who participates in any program administered by the PMA county committee, or who is eligible for a COC loan, may vote in his respective community election.

Voting in Princess Anne County will be by the ballot box method. In each community farmers will vote for three regular community committeemen, two alternate committeemen, and a delegate and alternate delegate. The delegates from each community meet with other such community delegates the following day, December 8, to elect a county committee of three.

Both county and community committeemen will take office immediately after the election and hold office for a year. They will be responsible for the administration of the Agricultural Conservation Program, price support operations and marketing studies.

Chairman Lane noted that the elections take on special significance this year when all PMA programs will be geared with defense production. PMA county committeemen are automatically members of the County Agricultural Mobilization Committee, whose chairman is the PMA county chairman.

Mail Christmas Packages Early

Mail Christmas packages early and assure better service.

That is the advice of Virginia Beach Postmaster H. S. Myers to the package-mailing public. Mr. Myers said that all indications point to the biggest Christmas mailing in the history of the post-office, and he suggested that those who are planning to mail packages and Christmas cards do so at as early a time as possible.

Town Attorney Roy Smith Asked to Produce Draft of Proposed Charter

Roy Price Named Manager of Local VEPCO Office

Roy R. Price, a native of Blacksburg, Va., will come to Virginia Beach December 1 to take over the management of the Virginia Electric and Power Company office which was left vacant by the recent promotion of G. Fred Cook. Mr. Cook is moving to Richmond where he is taking charge of residential sales promotion for the entire Veeco system.

Mr. Price studied electrical engineering at V. P. I. After several years at Creve and South Boston, he moved to Altavista in 1938 as manager of that office when it was part of the Virginia Public Service Company. After that company merged with Veeco, Mr. Price remained as manager of the Altavista office until his assignment to Virginia Beach.

He has been active in religious and civic activities in Campbell County and Altavista. He is married and the father of three children, two of whom are now in college. He will move his family to the Beach as soon as he finds a suitable place to live.

Three Jaycee Projects Win Recognition At Board Meeting

The Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce received recognition in three departments at the quarterly board meeting held at Fredericksburg last weekend.

The local group won first place award for its bi-monthly publication, the Fog Horn, of which S. J. Foote is editor; second place award for its bench project; and third place award for its budget.

Eight members of the local club attended the board meeting, and according to one of the group, publicized and secured reservations for the annual State convention which will be held at Virginia Beach in May.

Exam for Postmaster At Lynnhaven Open By Civil Service Board

An examination, on an open competitive basis, for the position of postmaster at Lynnhaven, at a salary of $3,019 annually, has been announced by the United States Civil Service Commission. Flying Postman Delivers Xmas Seals Monday

Local Officials Greet Porterfield, Barrie At Norfolk Airport

"Buy Seals and Buy Health," the slogan for the 1951 Christmas Seal Sale drive of the National Tuberculosis Association was brought to the Norfolk Airport Monday by the flying postman, Robert Porterfield, who with Robert Barrie, State executive secretary of the TB association, landed completely with a truckload of TB Seals and a miniature Santa Claus. The formal opening of the Seal Sale began in Richmond at 9:30. The party reached Norfolk at 10:30, with Alexandria as their next stop.

"I just missed having tuberculosis," said Mr. Porterfield, a Barber Theatre player and member of the State Seal Sale Committee. When he regained his health, he began his active interest in TB work. He said that he hopes that everyone will buy the seals that he delivered by plane to this area Monday.

"We are planning a bigger and better seal sale this year than ever before," Mrs. F. A. Van Patten, president of the Princess Anne and Virginia Beach chapter of the TB Association, said in an interview at the Municipal Airport. She was accompanied by Mrs. Willard Ashburn, chairman of the Virginia Beach Seal Sale Committee, her assistant, Mrs. Ward Cole, and Mrs. C. F. Greene, publicity chairman.

The plane in which Mr. Porterfield and Mr. Barrie made the opening day tour for the Christmas Seal Drive was loaned by the Reynolds Metal Company of Richmond.

Annexation Also Before Council; Law Firm Retained

An ordinance which would annex 1,044 acres of territory adjacent to Virginia Beach on the north and west was passed on first reading by the Virginia Beach Town Council in regular session on Monday evening.

In addition, the town attorney, Roy Smith, was requested to produce within five days a draft of the town's proposed charter which will govern it in the event it becomes a city of the second class.

Charter Difficulties

Councilman W. W. McClanahan introduced a motion requesting Attorney Smith to produce a draft of the proposed town charter for the information of council and the public. Mr. McClanahan said that the charter had been requested several months ago, and that to date none of the council has had an opportunity to study it or its provisions, in fact did not know what it contained.

Attorney Smith said that a draft had been sent to Richmond to the drafting board to be put in proper legal language.

Councilman R. L. Simpson, in backing up the motion made by Mr. McClanahan, declared that the public must have an opportunity to know what is in the charter that will govern its community.

"We can study the draft which you sent to Richmond; it doesn't matter about the legalistic language in our first study of the charter," Mr. Simpson declared.

Put to a vote, the request that the draft be produced within five days was passed by 10-5. As Mayor Patton, R. G. Barr, Jr., Mr. McClanahan and Mr. Simpson; no vote: Councilman Henry Gregory; voting no: H. E. Halstead and George Mansson.

Annexation

In passing the annexation ordinance, the council employed the firm of Wilcox, Cooke and Wilcox to serve as counsel with Mr. Smith in the legal proceedings. It stipulated that the legal firm would receive a fee of $5,000, plus $200 a day for each day in court exceeding five. The provision would not include the cost of appeals and other further expenses.

Area Urban in Nature

The ordinance states that the proposed territory is compact and urban in nature and does not share the rural aspects of other sections of Princess Anne County; that further improvements to the water system and required sewerage development should be planned as part of that of Virginia Beach and coordinated with it.

The proposed territory furthermore has no school of its own, but must use that of Virginia Beach, the ordinance continued.

The area is a natural outlet for the progress of Virginia Beach. Community, civility and socially, its interests are the same and its physical development should be made under one plan with that of Virginia Beach.

Your car — if its wheels are unbalanced — will be envied by jackrabbits, but sooner or later it'll be a headache to you. Wheels that are out of balance tend to "hop" much as if they were lopsided. They cause "steering shake" — forcing the driver to keep a tight, tiresome grip on the wheel. Unbalanced wheels set up vibrations that cause expensive damage to steering and wheel assemblies.

Janice Marie Casey Becomes Bride
Of Richard Galloway on Saturday

The First Presbyterian Church was the setting Saturday evening at 8 o'clock for the marriage of Miss Janice Marie Casey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wilson Casey, of Virginia Beach, to Richard Eugene Galloway, son of Mrs. Leo P. Kelley, of Norfolk, and the late Eugene E. Galloway, of the Rev. Robert F. Davis officiating. The church was decorated with smilax, white cut flowers and lighted candles. Mrs. Charles H. Hitchings, church organist, played the wedding music and Joseph R. White, Jr., sang "I Love You Truly," "Through the Years," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding gown of bridal white satin, fashioned with a shoulder wide sheer yoke and Alencon lace bertha, long satin sleeves ending in points over the hands, and the bodice made on princess lines was fastened to back with tiny self-covered buttons. The very full skirt extended in to a long train. Her finger tip veil of imported tulle was arranged from a cascade with side clusters of orange blossoms, and she carried a single cascade bouquet of Pleur d'Amour and ivy, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Bruce E. Jones, of Virginia Beach, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Lee Dowdy, cousin of the bride, of Lynchburg, and Miss Willie Alice Wain, of Virginia Beach. They wore gowns alike of Flamingo Venice lace and nylon net over satin, made with strapless bodice topped with nylon net sleeves and a very bouffant skirt of net over tulle. They wore headresses of fluted net and carried crescent bouquets of pink magpie roses backed with pink glister leaves.

Leo F. Kelly, stepfather of the bridegroom, was best man. The groomsmen were Charles Lambert Smith, Jr., Janice Russell and Bruce E. Jones.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of Panama blue lace over tulle, matching headress of net and lace leaves, and a corsage of Pink cymbidium orchids. The mother of the bridegroom wore a dress of Grecian pink lace over tulle, matching headress and a corsage of lavender hybrid orchids.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Martha Washington Hotel. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Galloway left by plane for a wedding trip to New York, and upon their return will reside at Virginia Beach. For traveling the bride wore a suit of royal blue velvet with matching hat, gray accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Dr. and Mrs. John F. Woodward have returned to their home in Lankhorn Park after spending some time in Ivanhoe, N. C.

... "and I don't care who hears me say it !"

In the barber shop, on the street corner, over the backyard fence—you can say what you think in this country. You can write a letter to the editor, climb up on a soap box, or hire a hall.

What's so unusual about that? Sure, it happens every day. But this is the United States, where you don't have to wonder whether it's "safe" to talk in front of the barber, or "keep mum" because you don't know whether the fellow in the chair next to you is constable or congressman, Republican or Democrat, Catholic, Jew or Protestant. The only laws we have to limit what you can say are those which protect the personal rights of the private citizen.

Hang on to this freedom of speech. Never forget that anything which proposes to change our form of government, proposes to take away your right to say what you think.

Remember—only in America things are this way...and help keep America forever this way!

The first Thanksgiving in the United States was celebrated by people who gave up their homes and fled to a new world in search of the very freedoms we enjoy today. This Thanksgiving, be thankful for our America . . . "land of the free."

THE GREAT CHARTER MYSTERY

We cannot help commenting on the strange case of the disappearing charter!

Some months ago, Town Attorney Roy Smith was requested to prepare a charter for the Town of Virginia Beach in readiness for its transition to a city of the second class by legislative action in January. But to date Mr. Smith has not produced that charter, NOR CAN HE OR ANY MEMBER OF THE TOWN COUNCIL TELL US WHAT IT CONTAINS.

At Monday's Town Council meeting, a motion requesting the attorney to produce a draft of the charter within five days for study of council and the public was pushed through by the skin of its teeth (Councilmen Haishead and Manson voting No; Gregory abstaining).

As was pointed out at the meeting, Mr. Smith has been promising regularly for months to produce the charter; it has been in Richmond getting the fine legal phrasing necessary, he explained. But didn't he send the draft there in the first place? Doesn't he have working papers at all? Why cannot the council have an opportunity to know what it will have to pass upon within the short space of 30 days? Why doesn't the public have an opportunity to know what kind of a charter it will live under for years to come? WHAT IS ALL THE MYSTERY ABOUT?

It leads one to suspect strongly that That Man has his finger in the pot again, and that perhaps the charter for the City of Virginia Beach is being prepared as a project of the State Department of Conservation, of which You-Know-Who is head man!

Frankly, the charter should be here and made public at once. The people STILL have a say in their government and, regardless of what Sidney says, it is the right of the people to approve the charter through their elected representatives, the Council.

OLD FORM VS. NEW IS ISSUE IN PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY

(Editor's Note: The following editorial is reprinted from the Richmond Times-Dispatch of Wednesday, November 14, 1951.)

While a group of civic-minded citizens of Princess Anne County are working to bring about the adoption of the county executive form of government, Fairfax is preparing to put this modern, efficient system into effect in that county as of January 1.

Fairfax voters gave their approval to the executive form in a referendum a year ago. Princess Anne citizens will have the opportunity on January 15 of replacing their present governmental system with the more progressive county executive plan.

In Fairfax, David Lawrence, nationally known editor and columnist, headed a committee which was created by the Board of Supervisors to study questions arising in connection with the transition from one form of government to another. The committee secured the services of the Bureau of Public Administration at the University of Virginia to do the research involved, and the committee's report has just been published in a 242-page booklet.

While the report deals specifically with changes which Fairfax will have to make, it is packed with general information concerning the executive form, and it should be of considerable help to those public spirited citizens of Princess Anne who are leading the fight for adoption of the executive system, as well as to citizens of any other counties which are considering discarding the old form of county government. Copies of the report can be obtained by writing to the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors.

In submitting his report, Mr. Lawrence wrote:

The county executive form of government which has been adopted is a flexible system. It offers an opportunity to meet the expanding needs of the county by giving the people a modernized, efficient and economical form of county government.

In Princess Anne, the organization which has controlled the county for many years is strongly opposed to any change. But in last August's Democratic primary, this group barely managed to retain its hold, and it may be that a majority of the citizens are ready to support adoption of a system of government more responsive to the will of the people.

The residents of Princess Anne are in a better position than most outsiders to weigh the pros and cons and to decide which form will best serve the county's interests. But, from the Richmond area, we do feel justified in passing along the observation that Henrico County is enjoying excellent economical government under a modern system much like the one proposed for Princess Anne.

GOOD READING FOR ADVOCATES OF GOOD COUNTY GOVERNMENT

(Editor's Note: The following editorial is reprinted from the Richmond Times-Dispatch of Saturday, November 17, 1951.)

A booklet just published by the University of Virginia Extension Division should be of considerable interest to civic leaders of the 95 Virginia counties which do not have the county manager or the county executive form of government.

"Fifteen years of County Manager Government in Virginia" is the name of the booklet, written by Dr. George W. Spicer, professor of political science at the University of Virginia. Paper-bound copies sell for 50 cents each, with special prices for 10 or more copies.

The new publication brings up to date Dr. Spicer's "Ten Years of County Manager Government in Virginia," which was published in 1945. In it he describes the excellent records achieved by Henrico, Albemarle and Warwick Counties under systems of government permitted by the Virginia Optional Forms Act of 1932.

While Arlington County does not have either of the forms (manager or executive) provided under the 1932 statute, it does have a special manager form of government and, indeed, was the first county in the United States to establish a manager system. For this reason, Dr. Spicer includes a discussion of Arlington in his book. The picture in this instance is not all pleasant, however, since Arlington's peculiar manager form has several weaknesses which have caused trouble.

Fairfax County voters approved the executive form in a referendum last year and it goes into effect in that county January 1.

In discussing the Fairfax situation in these columns a few days ago, we called attention to another booklet which should interest students of good county government. It is the report made by the University of Virginia Bureau of Public Administration on a study of problems which Fairfax will face in making the transition from its present to its new form.

While that report deals specifically with Fairfax, it contains much information about the executive form in general. Copies may be obtained from the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors.

As Dr. Spicer says, "The Optional Forms Act affords the people of the several counties, for the first time, the opportunity of setting up a government directly responsible to them and subject to their own control."

Ten per cent of the qualified voters of any county can bring about a referendum on adoption of the manager or executive form by petition filed with the Circuit Court (as was done recently in Princess Anne), or the Board of Supervisors can ask for such a referendum. In any county in which citizens are not happy with their present government, the Fairfax report and Dr. Spicer's booklet could prove to be valuable reading.

Questions & Answers About the Proposed County Executive Form

I attended a meeting recently where Mr. Sidney Kellam spoke strongly against the county executive form of government. As a result, I wonder if you will be so good as to answer the following questions that he brought up?

1. All members of the Board of Supervisors would have an equal vote in the affairs of the county. Could, for example, three members, representing but some 1,000 voters, run the affairs of Lynnhaven and Kempsville districts, where there are about 7,500 voters?

ANSWER: It is true that all members have the same vote, representing the five districts of the county; the Board is elected exactly as it is at present. A parallel is the United States Senate, where each state of the union, regardless of size, has two senators.

There is little danger that the 1,000 voters represented by the three smaller districts would rule the county. School districts would remain the same under the new system, as would special improvement funds (Kempsville and Lynnhaven districts have such special improvement funds), sanitation districts, and the road system would remain as it is now since Princess Anne County is part of the Byrd Road Plan. Local rule for the districts is without doubt, but more efficiently, guided by a trained executive.

2. The offices of the Commissioner of the Board of Supervisors and as a system of checks and balances would there be any way missioner of Revenue's office were abolished, would there be any way to assure honest collection and expenditure of county funds?

ANSWER: This question seems a little childish, but here goes. The Finance Officer, under the county executive form of government, takes over the Treasurer and the Commissioner of Revenue functions, which are closely related in that one bills for taxes (which are set by the Board of Supervisors) while the other collects the taxes. There would be supervision of the Finance Officer through the Executive and the Board of Supervisors and it would be part of his function to be in a position to submit daily balance sheets on the working of the county. The same so-called checks and balances as exist now would be present—that is, the listing property for tax purposes, the assessments, and the chargeable taxes would be available for a check against the incoming funds from taxes.

We believe that Mr. Kellam's reasoning here is specious—it looks good, but consideration proves that it will not hold water.

3. Mr. Kellam says that we do not need people from Warwick County or other places to come to tell us about the executive form of government and how it works. Anyone can get the code and read it for themselves. What do you think about this?

ANSWER: We are convinced that the county executive form of government is a progressive and businesslike form of government. Nevertheless, we are interested in how other counties which have adopted the form have worked out their problems in the changeover, what it has meant to them in the way of more efficient government, and other facts garnered from their experiences. Mr. Kellam must realize that insofar as the Virginia Code is concerned, it is limited almost exclusively to attorneys' offices, and not readily available to the average layman. Moreover, he should also realize that understanding of the legislative language involved is not given to everyone, and that for the average layman, interpretation must be in the layman's own language.

While there are rules on baseball, football, bridge and canasta, usually when you learn them you will still seek the interpretation of a qualified instructor. Therefore, we believe it is of great benefit to us to hear the voice of experience as a help and guide.

Red Cross, Junior Women Win Praise For Work at Port

The Red Cross and through them, the Junior Woman's Club, received thanks and a letter of appreciation for the work they have done together at the Hampton Roads Port of Embarcation, as well as for the Bloodmobile program, of which the Juniors were sponsor last month.

A recent letter from Captain Henry W. Lowe, public relations officer, to Mrs. Pearl Mallory, head of the Red Cross here, said in part:

"May I take this opportunity of expressing my deep and sincere appreciation for the wonderful cooperation that your chapter has rendered to me and the Port of Embarcation at the Hampton Roads Port. . . My prayers and best wishes for your continued success as the accomplished leaders in your particular community, the American Red Cross."

The Juniors have assisted the Red Cross in work done at the Port of Embarcation.

WE DON'T CARRY GUNS TO CHURCH ANY MORE
AGAINST the savage wilderness the Pilgrims had to protect their "freedom of religion" — as indeed their freedom to live — with firearms.
Today, Dad may oil up his shotgun for the quail season, but he doesn't carry it to church any more. No painted Indians slit like shadows from tree to tree on a quiet Sunday morning. Nor does any king or civil governor prescribe the shape of our churches, the theme of our sermons or the form of our prayers.
Today, tremendous forces of propaganda are directed against our free way of life, and in many lands, where it has not heroically resisted, the church has been taken over lock, stock and barrel for the dissemination of an evil creed.
The American right to the free exercise of religious faith has bred in our people the ability to question, to weigh and to decide. It is not easy to twist the Ten Commandments or the Sermon on the Mount into Marxist theory.
We don't carry guns to church any more . . . but eternal vigilance is the price of all freedoms.

Traffic Warned of Detour on US 58

Motor vehicle traffic is warned that a detour of 4.7 miles along US 28, just east of Emporia, went into effect for a 16-day period on Saturday, November 17. The detour was necessitated by the Virginia Department of Highways officials said, because of the progress of difficult construction work along 2.3 miles of Route 58. Motor vehicles using Route 58 are being moved over an all-hard-surfaced stretch which has bridge structures that are sufficient to meet the requirements of all traffic.

Proposed New City Charter Calls for Only Five Councilmen

Election of County PMA Community Committeemen December 7th

List of Candidates, Polling Places Presented by Lane

Farmers Eligible to Vote Who Participate in PMA Program

The names of Princess Anne County farmers on the date for Production and Marketing Administration community committee elections to be held Friday, December 7, are announced by R. W. Lane, chairman of the nominating committee.

Local farmers will choose three committeemen in each community to act as chairman, vice chairman and regular member of the PMA community committee. They will serve for a full year's term. Two alternate community committeemen are selected at the same time but they do not take office unless a vacancy occurs on the committee.

Following are the names to be voted on in each community:

Kempville Community—E. E. Davis, W. C. Deford, George R. Ferrell, J. L. Hutchinson, Rufus Jordan, Richard Krabenhil, R. A. Midgett, Valentine Miller, W. E. Wood, Jr., and Dan S. Yoder.

Lynnhaven Community—E. F. Butt, E. W. Calk, A. J. Croonenberghs, J. B. Fairbanks, I. W. Miller, Jr., William L. Morrisette, J. W. Potter, Dean Potter, Carl Rau, and John H. Trans.

Seaboard Community—Russell Brown, Joe I. Heranberger, Jr., D. B. Hill, F. E. King, W. C. Land, W. R. Malbon, Jr., B. A. Manning, Cameron Munden, Woodrow White, and John Wilson.

Pungo Community—F. E. Bonney, G. L. Bright, M. G. Bright, Mark Bright, Willie Davis, William Grinstead, Charlie Spence, Wilbert Spence, Floyd Waterfield, and A. E. Williams.

Blackwater Community—Frank Borovich, Ralph Frost, W. A. Gilbert, C. W. Lewis, Milton Mansfield, M. B. Miller, Stuart Ives, H. C. Shirley, George Waller, and Roy W. Wood.

In addition to electing committeemen, farmers in each community will also choose a delegate and an alternate to attend the county convention on Saturday (December 8) where they will elect a county committee of three farmers and two alternates, which corresponds to the community committees.

Polls will be open all day, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Friday, December 7, at the following community polling places:

Kempville Community—Denny and Brinkley's Store.
Lynnhaven Community—Fleming's Store.
Seaboard Community—PMA office.

Pungo Community—Curtis Ansell's Store.
Blackwater Community—Parson's Store.

Every farmer who participates in any program administered by the PMA county committee, or who is eligible for a CCC loan, may vote in his respective community election.

Voting in Princess Anne County will be by the ballot box method.

PMA committeemen not only administer agricultural conservation, marketing quotas, and price support programs, but they are cooperating more and more in the defense production programs. For this reason Mr. Lane, present PMA county chairman, said the duties of committeemen are as assuming vital importance. County committeemen are automatically members of the County Agricultural Mobilization Committee.

Ground Observers Asked to Report for Alert Saturday

New volunteers and old workers on the ground observation corps are asked to get in touch with their chief observers in connection with the planned exercises on December 1 announced by the Headquarters of Eastern Air Defense Command, according to Chief Wayne E. Johnson.

Chief observers are W. E. Macdonald, Princess Anne Lumber Co.; Mrs. Harry P. Ames, Avenue C; and E. W. Smith, Bank of Virginia Beach. Chief Johnson said that the exercises on Saturday will be for one day only, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

"The more volunteers we have, the shorter will be the stint of each of the observers," he said. He stressed the vital importance in the civilian defense setup of the ground observation work.

Ten Junior Women Complete Red Cross First Aid Course

The Junior Women's Club of Princess Anne County will meet Tuesday, December 4, at 8 p.m., at "The Haven."

Mrs. Thomas Rose, civilian defense chairman of the club, announced that ten members had recently completed the Red Cross First Aid Course, which also included an atomic bomb treatment supplement. They were: Mrs. J. Goodenow Tyler, Mrs. Marvin Woolf, Mrs. Jack Etheridge, Mrs. John H. Malbon, Miss Ruth Pritchard, Mrs. Thomas Ayres, Mrs. J. W. Wolcott, Jr., Mrs. Robert Simpson, Mrs. Doris Etheridge and Mrs. Rose.

Others completing the course included Mrs. Neale Curtin, Mrs. E. R. Foster, Mrs. W. B. Hall and Mrs. J. T. Talley.

The class met two nights a week under instructors A. C. Peel and Mrs. Jo Miller. The course required 22 hours of study.

Music Club Meets With Mrs. Harden

The Virginia Beach Music Club held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Ernest Harden on 38th Street. A short musical program was followed by a round table discussion of the Metropolitan Opera Guild News which carried highlights of the opening of the opera season with Aida, and a study of the first opera to be broadcast December 1, La Traviata.

Tea was served by the hostess.

The main address will be held at the Virginia Beach Methodist Church at 8 p.m. tonight.

Joy Fund to Help Less Fortunate of Our Fellow Citizens

Fire Department Again Headquarters For Toy Collection

It is Joy Fund Time again! Princess Anne County's annual Joy Fund will go into operation at once to bring Christmas joy to those less fortunate of our fellow citizens.

A. C. Peel, Gene Baker, Al Craft, E. B. (Bubba) Bayne, and John Bradbourne will again head up the organization which has become an annual affair in the county.

Your donations of money may be sent to either of the local newspapers (the News and the Virginia Beach Sun, on 31st St.), or you may give them directly to any of the Joy Fund officers.

Donations of clothing, food, and above all, toys, should go to the fire house, 20th and Arctic, where they will be repaired as good as new by the firemen who each year contribute immensely to the season's joyousness by thus providing toys for youngsters who otherwise would have to do without.

If you have no way to get the toys to the fire house, call Mr. Bayne, and he will see that someone picks them up.

No toys are too badly battered to be of some use, for even if it looks as if they could never be useful again, parts can be salvaged for others.

Give what you can in money to help fill the empty Christmas tables of the poor, then give a little more for the joy of it!

First contribution reported for the Joy Fund was a check for $25 from the Ladies Auxiliary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Kempville PTA Executive Board Reports on 'Festival'

The executive board of the Parent-Teachers Association of Kempville School met Tuesday night, November 20 in the school library. After the committee reports were made, final plans for the Harvest Festival to be held November 30, at 1 p.m., were discussed.

There will be games and a talent show, after which Kings and Queens from the 1st through 3rd grades, 4th through 7th grades, and high school will be crowned. Booths for grab bag, parcel post, bakery, fancy work, potted plants, fortune telling and movies. There will be fun for all in the cake walk. Door prizes will also be given. Admission will be 25c and will include the talent show.

The regular P-T-A meeting will be held December 5 at 8 p.m., at which time the winner in the membership drive will be announced.

Correction: The Date Is January 9

We regret that in last week's News we carried a notice that persons desiring to vote in the January 15 referendum who have not heretofore been properly registered should register on or before December 15.

We are informed that the correct date is January 9, therefore our notification should have read: "All persons who have not heretofore been properly registered and are otherwise qualified may register on or before January 9, 1962, in order to vote in the January 15 referendum."

Supervisors Fail To Act on Beach Water Problem

Norfolk General Hospital Seeks To Collect $5,573.55 Bill

The 350,000 gallon water storage tank, planned for a cure to North Virginia Beach's seasonal water famine, will probably not be built, according to an informed source. The board of supervisors, in session Monday, did not take up the problem of the water supply system which was earmarked for discussion.

Reason for abandoning the project was said to be the town's annexation plans for the section.

The section suffers serious water shortages during the summer months of peak tourist activity, frequently having no water at all during hours of greatest usage in the town. A recently installed 12-inch main from the town limits to 63rd Street failed to remedy the situation greatly, and engineers recommended that the water storage tank be erected in the vicinity of 67th Street at a cost of approximately $75,000.

Hospital Arrears

The supervisors on Monday heard a delegation from the Norfolk General Hospital seeking to collect $5,573.55 which is claimed the county owes the hospital for indigent care and emergency services. The county recently failed to renew a contract with this Norfolk hospital when its daily rate was raised from $10.50 to $13.50. The bills presented date back to 1948.

Sanitation District

A delegation from East Ocean View was told that before further steps could be taken to install water lines in sections of the community that data must be secured concerning the area affected as to assessed values, debt load, etc. A sanitation district now exists, but information gathered is outdated, according to spokesmen for the supervisors. Cost of the water line would be in the neighborhood of $50,000, and would have to be borne by special taxation or floating of bonds. P. W. Ackles, commonwealth's attorney, suggested that the residents in the area should engage counsel.

Other Business

The supervisors approved an application of the Town and County Properties, Inc., for extension of water mains to West Oceana Gardens and the installation of fire hydrants, cost to be borne by the development company, and rental on the fire hydrants of $100 each annually to be paid by the company for a period of three years. The subdivision consists of 80 single family dwellings.

The board appropriated $1,000 to the Thalia Village Volunteer Fire Department for fire equipment to come from the Kempville Improvement Fund.

Permits to extend gas mains into the county were granted to the Virginia Electric and Power Company and to the Virginia Beach Gas Corp. It was explained that the contracts are for 30 years; that they are not in the nature of exclusive franchises.

The three outgoing supervisors, M. C. Mansfield, L. H. Vaughan, and Walter C. Maher, voted to ask the Legislature to raise the salaries allowed supervisors from $500 to a minimum of $900 annually. Mr. Maher, who introduced the motion, said that the calls made upon supervisors, the interruptions, and the outside work they are called upon to perform

Provisions Seen As Scheme to Keep Machine Control

OTHER CHANGES

New Charter Parallels Present One in Many Of Its Provisions

Most discussed subject at Virginia Beach this week is the draft of the proposed charter which will govern the Beach if it becomes a city of the second class by legislative action soon after the first of the year.

The biggest difference over the present charter, which it parallels in part, is in the makeup of the governing body with a reduction in the number of councilmen from the present six to five; the appointment of a mayor from the five councilmen, after the termination of the present mayor's term of office in 1964; and the addition of a commissioner of the revenue and a city sergeant.

The police justice setup, the school board, and the maintenance of the city as an entity rather than dividing it into wards, the taxing powers and the city manager remain the same. The city presumably will continue to rely upon the circuit court and the clerk's office for judicial functions and records, with the city making arrangements to reimburse for these services. All tax payments to the county would close as of December 31 this year.

Citizens Skeptical

Those citizens who have had an opportunity to study the proposal appear skeptical of the provision which would decrease the number of councilmen, as well as the time designated for election of the city's officials.

As at present provided for in the Code of the State of Virginia, a town changes its status by petitioning the circuit court to declare it a city. If the court is satisfied that the town has a population greater than 5,000, a commissioner of revenue is appointed who holds office until the next general election; the number of councilmen is set at a minimum of eight and maximum of 40. All are elected at the next councilmanic election, half to hold office for two years, the others for four years, to be determined by lot.

Those who have studied the charter point out that the provision for the council's makeup as proposed would assure the continued control of the dominant organization which has controlled the affairs of the town in the past.

The Provision for Council

The new charter provides: "The Mayor and Councilmen of the town, as now constituted, shall continue in office as Mayor and Councilmen of the city with the same powers and duties until their present terms of office expire. After the expiration of their present terms of office the Mayor and Councilmen there shall be five Councilmen for the city, all of whom shall be elected by the qualified electors of the city. On the second Tuesday of June, 1962, there shall be elected at large two Councilmen for the said city for a term of four years, beginning September 1, 1962; on the second Tuesday in June, 1964, three Councilmen shall be elected at large in said city for a term of four years, beginning September 1, 1964. On September 1, 1964, or at its first meeting after that date the Council shall elect one of its members as chairman who shall be ex-officio Mayor."

The Treasurer, a Commissioner of the Revenue and the City Sergeant, each elected for a term of four years.

The altar was arranged with white foliage, baskets of white chrysanthemums and lighted candles. Mrs. Norman Rhode, organist, played the wedding music, and Miss Joanne Sterling, of Oceana High School faculty, sang "Because." "O Promise Me," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She carried a single cascade bouquet of fleur d'amour centered with a white orchid.

Miss Joan Curles was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Ann McChesney, Miss Jane Williams, Miss Audrey Morse, sister of the groom, and Miss Leonora Aydtelle, all of Virginia Beach. All we ask is

Test it 2 ways

1. Road Test a Mercury for Proof of Performance

We ask little of you. We ask you first to get into a Mercury and to drive it.

True, we can tell you here of a Mercury's performance. We can describe its handling, its roadability, its balance. We can try to explain all this by detailing its new-type springing, wide-view visibility, supersafety brakes, price-winning V-8 engine.

We can write words until we run out of space and it won't tell you half as much as just a few minutes behind the wheel. We ask you to sit there soon. Then—we ask you to try it on your budget. We believe you, too, will want a Mercury!

2. Budget Test a Mercury for Proof of Value

Does it have a down-to-earth first price? Mercury's price tag is one you can understand—a big dollar's worth for every dollar invested.

Will you be sure of good gasoline mileage? Mercury has proved its more-miles-per-gallon by winning officially sponsored economy tests.

Is it famous for long life? It is indeed! 92% of all Mercurys ever built for use in the U.S. are still on the road, according to the latest official annual registration figures.

Does it represent solid value? Mercury owners say YES! So will you when you get the rest of the story. Drop in today and see.

2-WAY CHOICE INCLUDING MERC-O-MATIC DRIVE For "the drive of your life!" Mercury offers a triple choice in dependable transmissions. Merc-O-Matic Drive, the new simpler, smoother, more efficient automatic transmission—or the sturdy Touch-O-Matic Overdrive are optional at extra cost. Entered as second class matter August 3, 1926, at the Post Office of Virginia Beach, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

THERE'S A GEMINER IN THE WOODPILE:

The News has read with great interest the draft of the proposed charter which will govern the City of Virginia Beach once it is placed in the city category by legislative action contemplated for early 1952, or as soon as the Legislature meets.

Realizing as we do that there has as yet been no formal final action and that it has not yet had time to be discussed at length by the public, who after all should be the final arbiters, we would like to point out the following points which undoubtedly need further thought by Council before a decision is reached.

The charter calls for a reduction in the number of councilmen from six to five as of September, 1952 (two would be elected in June, 1952) yet the Mayor, who has a vote in Council, would serve out his term of office, which ends September 1, 1954. Result—six votes. Another result—six votes. It is custom, and we understand, the law, that the judge of the circuit court in such a case appoints a "tie breaker" who in the event of a tie would be called upon to make the decision.

All of this is well and good. Yet, with past experience of outside political interference and domination in the town's affairs, how can we expect that the town's position as an independent unit will be improved? The guess as to the judge's appointment is anyone's, but it is not too far a smile to predict that the "tie breaker," if one is appointed, will be another of the faithful. Result then—the same old sure-fire mastery of the situation by the machine.

Anyway you look at it, it would appear that the machine would have Virginia Beach over a barrel. If there is no "tie breaker" appointed, the best that could be hoped for would be a stalemate because even if the People's Ticket put in two of their own men in June, if the balance of the Council (Manson, Gregory, the Mayor, with McClanahan as the only non-machine man) continued their voting practices, there are always three assured machine votes. Three to three equals no decision.

While we do not advocate reduction in the number of councilmen, if it is inevitable, we respectfully submit that there are two possibilities which would cure this major flaw in the charter:

- (1) Election of all five councilmen in June, 1952—with immediate termination of the Mayor's post as an elective post; or
- (2) Wait until the June, 1954, election to reduce the number in the council from six to five, allowing three to come up for election in June, 1952, and two in June, 1954, to take office at the same time that the Mayor's term is ended.

We cannot help but feel that the make-up of the Council is a major gimmick to perpetuate the control of the machine over the affairs of Virginia Beach, for the way it is set up, it could have no other possible result.

The very fact that the machine-controlled councilmen were the ones who proposed achieving the status of city of the second class by special legislation rather than by the due process as set forth in the Code of Virginia leads one to believe more strongly than ever that machine control is the aim.

(If the town were to follow the Code in becoming a city of the second class, there would be a minimum of eight council members although there is leeway for more if needed, all of whom would have to stand for election.)

In view of the town's annexation plans, of which we are heartily in favor, we believe that the public owes it to itself to take an active and thoughtful interest in the new charter. That interest can let itself be known, and if perpetuation of the machine control is undesirable to the majority, then the Council should be told; if the Council does not heed the wishes of the people, then recourse would have to be taken to put the question before the proper legislative committee of the General Assembly in open meeting.

The public must be vociferous in making itself heard in this question!

THE RED CROSS BLOOD PROGRAM

The wonderful work of the American Red Cross in their blood program cannot be too loudly praised. The incalculable contribution of the program in treating battle casualties cannot be too greatly impressed upon the American public.

Yet we feel that the citizenry should show their appreciation of this program in a concrete way. Gratitude is fine; but back that gratitude up by giving blood yourself to further the work of the American Red Cross.

Questions & Answers About the Proposed County Executive Form

QUESTION: Why should the people of Virginia Beach worry about the county's affairs when they plan to become a city of the second class as soon as possible? What relationship would the county bear to Virginia Beach then?

ANSWER: This is a very pertinent question at this time. With the exception of an outright tax levy, the county would bear a relationship to the City of Virginia Beach that would be almost as close as that which it now bears. In place of taxes, however, the city would make outright grants to the county for use of courts, records, etc.

For example: (1) While the charter does not specifically state it—the school superintendent would still be the county's school superintendent, the school board of the city named as it is now with one member serving as liaison with the county.

(2) The town's attorney, Roy Smith, says that the county would still set the assessed values on town property for taxation purposes, and of course assessment of property is one of the strongest talking points of the county executive form of government for under that system it falls to trained, non-political assessors.

(3) The circuit court judge and the clerk of the court still function for the city according to the charter, and the sheriff of the county will still carry on his functions for the town, with the possible exception of the serving of court summons, etc., which would be done by the city's new argument. The county jails would also be used by the city; and the commonwealth's attorney for Princess Anne County would still function as commonwealth's attorney for the city. As you see, there would still be a very close relationship between the county and city, if and when the present town makes the change.

The same answer would hold true for the area that would be included in the event proceedings were initiated for annexation.

QUESTION: What have the county's executive form of government had to say about the county's executive form of government as opposed to the old form which makes for close control of local affairs?

ANSWER: We can quote from several prominent men in public life over the years in Virginia, as follows:

Harry Flood Byrd, when he was Governor of the State of Virginia, had this to say with reference to county reorganization: "When permitted by the Constitution no more important duty rests upon Virginia than an efficient constructive reorganization of county governments."

A report of a group who studied county government at Governor Byrd's instigation said: "The present county government has no responsible head; it is without a chief administrative officer and the board of supervisors controls through appointment only a small part of the county administration. . . . The voters of the county have very little power in the determination of county policies. . . . In fact there is nothing to commend the present form of county government in Virginia. In many of the counties it is grossly political, careless, wasteful, and thoroughly inefficient."

John Garland Pollard, when he was governor, said: "It is my earnest conviction that unless the people of Virginia turn their attention to the improvement of county government, local government in this State will be endangered. . . . The failure of the American people to adapt their government to changed conditions is fast leading to centralization in state government and is taking away from the people of each rural community that authority which is contributed to their civic training and their continued interest in their country."

called for compensation greater than that now allowed. The two supervisors who continue in office, E. I. Herriot and E. Paul Brown, did not cast a vote.

A zoning ordinance amendment for the Lake Shore section in the Kempsville District was approved. It calls for the raising of cost restrictions to $10,000 minimum, and was previously approved by the county's zoning board.

Board of Supervisors is slated for the third Monday of the month, December 17.

New Charter

four years, will come up for election at the general election in November, 1954, taking office on January 1, 1956. The charter provides that the Treasurer of the Town shall continue in office as Treasurer of the city for the balance of his unexpired term and until his successor is elected and qualified January 1, 1956.

School Board Same

No provision is made for naming the Commissioner of Revenue or the Sergeant to serve until the November, 1954, election, but Attorney Smith said "that one of the things that will have to be worked out is whether these officers will be appointed by the Council or by the judge of the Circuit Court, or named by some other method."

The school board continues as at present, with three members, each of whom serves three years, with one appointed annually by the Council. Mr. Smith said that "it is hoped that we can work out an arrangement with the County Board of Education whereby we will have the same setup as we do now, with the superintendent of schools (Frank W. Cox) as superintendent of our schools and one member of our board acting as a member of the County School Board."

The proposed charter continues in force sections of the charter having to do with the debt service commission, the levying of taxes and the imposition of special taxes and licenses.

Tax Levy Up to Council

It further leaves to the discretion of the Council the fixing of the annual levy on property, subject to taxation not to exceed $5 per $100 of assessed valuation; and sets a sum not to exceed 3 per cent of its annual revenue from all sources for advertisement and publicity purposes.

Mr. Smith said that the county will still continue its function of fixing assessments for town property.

To Our Customers

Due to the many difficulties encountered while doing business today, we have regretfully decided to close our Virginia Beach branch. This decision has been reached only after careful consideration and has been postponed for some time, but since it is obvious that one man cannot be two places at once, there is no alternative.

The five years we have been with you have been pleasant, and we wish to thank our customers for their support and for their patience when we were having difficulties. Some day, when conditions are less unsettled and more favorable to our type of business, we hope to return to the Beach. Meanwhile, if there is any way we can serve you from our Norfolk store, please call us.

Thanking you again for your many courtesies, we remain

Little Theatre to Give "Night Must Fall" Next Week

By Martha Mottishaw

LITTLE Theatre goes on to present a change of pace with the theatre group's newest production, "Night Must Fall." The academy award winner by Evelyn Williams will be presented Wednesday and Thursday nights, December 5 and 6 at the Community House.

It is a long time since the Little Theatre has undertaken a mystery thriller such as "Night Must Fall." Mrs. Arthur Mowery, director of the production, says rehearsals are progressing excellently and the play promises an evening full of suspense to all in attendance.

Thus far, the Virginia Beach Little Theatre is enjoying unparalled audiences, with the largest number of season ticket holders on record. Single seats for the performance on December 5 and 6 may be purchased at the box office in the lobby of the Community House.

Jane LaGaglia, Allen Tyler and Anne Henry, veterans of the local stage, promise their usual star performances while the footlights will shine on several newcomers to the community. Doris Broderick, from Boyds, Long Island, Ernest Pacey, whose home is Reading, Pa., Pauline Nellis, from Akron, Ohio, Billy Atwill, known to Norfolk Little Theatre audiences, and Norman Noble, are newcomers who promise fine performances.

The Tuesday night preview performance is being reserved for all servicemen and women of the area who are invited to attend as guests of the Little Theatre.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. for all performances.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"Fair and Square"

We've just had a political campaign with everything from a torch-light parade to a soft-and-soot ballet ball room.

Rusty Robinson, with no campaign funds, planned his Election Eve speech for the Square. Slim McCormick, who owns the Palace movie house, was finishing up his campaign in Pioneer Hall.

Then it began to rain. Rusty's political career was fading out in the damp when Slim showed up to say that Robinson people could meet in his theatre—for nothing. "I want to beat Rusty," Slim said.

From where I sit, you've got to give Slim credit for sitting on his haunches that everyone has a right to be heard—just as everyone has a right to his own opinions and tastes. Maybe you like hot coffee, for instance, when you "take a break." Well, my vote goes for a refreshing glass of beer. After all, we're lucky to be living in a free country where we can have our own preferences!

New Luxury Hotel On Laskin Road to Be Finished April 1

Golf Ranch Promises To Be Most Modern Structure of Type

Completion of the Golf Ranch, Virginia Beach's new modern luxury hotel, by April 1, 1952, was announced yesterday by George Guy and John B. Smith, the owners.

Located on Laskin Road, only two miles from the resort, the Golf Ranch will face on the 10th fairway of the Cavalier Golf Course on a three-acre plot of land. The ranch style building will contain 16 hotel rooms and five studio apartments with cooking units. Each will contain telephone, radio, wired for selective music, air conditioning and will be heated in the winter months. Each room will be complete with full tile bath and shower. The bedrooms are 12 by 16 feet and picture windows face out across the beautiful golf course. There will be a separate lobby, and an office opening off the entrance on Laskin Boulevard. A glassed and screened porch in the central building will be used to serve breakfast.

Mr. Guy explained that the building is over 300 feet long. It is planned to add 25 more units at a later date. Future development also calls for a swimming pool and patio.

Off-street parking is provided for guests on macadam-topped areas.

The structure will cost $125,000. It will have offset block walls of chocolate color, with old brick trim. Roof will be white. Outside lighting will be modern and effective.

Jack Elliott, of Florida, is doing the interior decorations in what he calls "modern Florida" style. Carpeting is from wall to wall, and the studio apartments are arranged so that they may connect with additional bedrooms for suites.
